Poulos to quit council

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

After 22 years as a precinct committeeman and nearly 16 years as a Granite City alderman, Roy Poulos is announcing that he will not seek reelection in the April city election.

"I would like to continue serving on the council, but I will be 66 years old next month and I cannot receive my pension from the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund as long as I am still paying into the fund, so I would be in my 70s before I could start getting my pension, if I ran again," Poulos told the Press-Record in an exclusive interview.

He served as a jailer at the Madison County Jail for nearly seven years and qualifies for an IMRF pension from that, as well as from his years on the city council. He said that when he retired from the county jail 14 months ago, "I didn't realize I couldn't get my pension. I had Lance Callis (former city attorney) write to Chicago and everywhere, asking why I wasn't getting my pension and they said it was because I was still paying into the fund through my service on the council."

Poulos vacating his seat on the council assures a lively race this April in the Third Ward. Three candidates have already picked up petitions for the post—Carl Kittel, Willard Hering and Eugene M. Starr—and Poulos predicts "two or three more to jump in there. I wouldn't be surprised."

"I am supporting Carl Kittel," Poulos noted. He added, "It's time for someone else to serve. The main reason is I am at an age when I need to adjust."

Asked about a lively five or six-way race for his seat, Poulos said, "It's always lively. The council is always lively. You always have factions with a half dozen alderman on one side and a half dozen on the other."

He said he is announcing his retirement now, so persons wishing to run can pick up their petitions of candidacy and fill them by the Jan. 26 filing deadline. I don't want anyone who wouldn't run because I was running to be stopped by me, since I'm not running," Poulos added.

"A lot of people have helped me on the way up and been good to me. I tried to do the best I could as an alderman. I haven't missed but four or five meetings in all these years," he said with pride, adding, "Four of these, I was in the hospital. Some meetings, for instance after surgery, I got to the meetings (which are on the top floor of city hall) by climbing up the stairs backwards, on my behind, but I made them. I have the best record on the council, except for Sam Whittier (Second Ward alderman)," Poulos commented.

"I tried to do the best I could as an alderman. You can't satisfy everyone. You just do the best you can."

"I think if all the aldermen in all seven wards do their jobs right, then the city is going to move right."

Reflecting over the last 15 plus years on the council, Poulos said he is proud of many achievements, including the 19th Street overpass, completion of Maryville Road, growth of industries using city-issued industrial revenue bonds, and others, but his proudest is construction of the Granite City Township building at 2060 Delmar Ave.

"The senior citizens use that a lot and I am glad we were able to provide a place for their activities," he explained.

Census shows 11% drop in population

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Quad-City area population was listed by the Census Bureau Friday as 67,474, or 8,528 fewer than the 76,003 tallied in the four local townships a decade ago. The 11.2 percent reduction is based on official but preliminary figures released at the regional census center in Chicago. Final statistics from the 1980 census are scheduled for announcement on April 1, 1981.

Although Friday's preliminary totals—the first 1980 data publicly announced by the Census Bureau—are still unsatisfactory from the viewpoint of most local public officials, the community-wide count is about 1,500 higher than had been indicated by "working figures" made available to officials here in July 1980. Still further adjustments are possible between now and April.

Quad-City housing units have increased by 786 or 3.2 percent in the past ten years, from 24,486 to 25,272.

However, the average number of residents per household here has decreased from 3.1 in 1970 to 2.6 today. Nationally, occupancy per home has fallen from 3 to 2.4 in the ten-year span.

The preliminary Granite City population count is 36,527, down 10.2 percent from 40,855 a decade ago.

Residents of the village of Pontoon Beach have risen 37.1 percent, to 3,356 now from 2,448 a decade ago.

Madisonians number 5,980, down 16.2 percent from 7,042. Venice residents total 3,418, a 27 percent decrease from 4,690 in 1970.

Chouteau Township, which includes the Mitchell area, has risen in population by 4 percent, to 8,554 from 8,221 people in the ten years.

But Namoki Township, which includes Pontoon Beach, has dropped 3.8 percent in population, to 13,350 now from 13,872. And Venice Township,

3 circuit judges appointed

The Illinois Supreme Court has named three circuit judges for the Third Judicial Circuit—Associate Judges Philip J. Rarick and George Moran Jr., and former Circuit Judge Charles Chapman, whose term on the bench expired Dec. 1.

Moran and Chapman are from Granite City and Rarick is from Troy. Upon hearing of the news Friday, Chapman commented, "I am very happy to be appointed and anxious to get back to work. It's a nice Christmas gift."

The appointments leave one vacancy in the circuit, which must be filled by a Bond County attorney. That vacancy was created when Circuit Judge John DeLaurenti failed to garner the minimum 60 percent vote in the November general election to win reelection.

One of the Madison County vacancies was created when Judge Victor J. Moselle's retention bid was thwarted by a well-financed ouster campaign, organized for the Committee for an Improved Judiciary, a group of lawyers. That group also targeted DeLaurenti for defeat.

Other vacancies were the result of Circuit Judge William Beatty resigning to become a U.S. district judge, and the resignation of Judge Harold R. Clark, who became a law judge for the U.S.

Social Security Administration.

Associate Judge A.A. Mateosian of Granite City had been filling Judge Clark's vacant circuit judgeship by appointment of the Supreme Court, but ran against Judge Chapman in the primary election for Judge Beatty's vacant seat, and was successful. He then ran in the general election and won Beatty's seat for a six-year term.

leaving Judge Clark's old seat vacant again.

The other vacant judgeship in Madison County was created when Judge Moses W. Harrison II ran on the general election ballot for both the appellate court and for retention as a circuit judge. He won both, but resigned the circuit post to accept the appellate court bench.

Site claims life of 2nd worker in 3 days

The General Motors plant construction site near Wentzville, which claimed the life of Ricky Hall of Granite City one week ago, claimed a second life Thursday.

While federal inspectors for the Occupational Health and Safety Act (OSHA) were pondering the cause of last Tuesday's death of Ricky Hall, 25, of 3801 Ramona Drive, at the General Motors plant construction site near Wentzville, Mo., the site claimed a second victim within three days when a concrete form fell on Apprentice carpenter Terrence L. Mitchell, 28, St. John, Mo., Thursday, killing him.

The site had been visited the day before by OSHA inspectors, to determine if there was negligence involved in Mr. Hall's death. Mr. Hall, a pipefitter, was saving a co-worker from a deep trench after a dirt wall collapse,

For the first time under the new Illinois law consolidating elections, Granite City, Madison, Venice, Pontoon Beach, all townships and the Granite City and Venice park boards will hold their elections on the same day—Tuesday, April 7.

In the past the Venice Park Board and Granite City elections were held on the first Tuesday of April while the Madison, Venice, Pontoon Beach, and Granite City Park Board elections were the third Tuesday in April. Township elections were held in odd-numbered years. The election consolidation law puts all of these elections on the same date, from now on.

Several lively battles in Granite City are being forecast as would-be candidates have been picking up their petitions for the last two weeks and several three-way races appear in the planning.

It had been erroneously reported that the deadline for picking up candidate petitions in Granite City was this Friday, Dec. 19. According to the deadline for picking up candidate petitions in Granite City was this Friday, Dec. 19. According to the Madison county clerk's office, there is no deadline for picking up petitions, but the petitions must be filed with the appropriate city clerk or comptroller between Jan. 19 and Jan. 26.

In Granite City, a total of 27 would-be candidates have already picked up their petitions and are in the process of gathering signatures.

Incumbent Mayor Paul Schuler and

Dan Partney, already have announced their candidacies for mayor and Glen R. Hollis has picked up petitions for the mayor's spot.

City Clerk Robert W. Stevens is the only one who has obtained petitions, thus far, for his job, while a two-way race is forming for the city treasurer's post. Incumbent Treasurer Nick

Select fur coats on quality, construction

By CATHERINE MAUCK Home Economics Adviser

With predictions of a long cold weather ahead, perhaps this is the year to buy a fur or fur-trimmed coat.

While the type of fur used helps determine price, the workmanship involved in each step of production—from preparation of the raw pelts to placing the final hook and eye—is perhaps an even better indicator of quality.

A law protects consumers from being sold misbranded furs, but check the following points in addition to reading labels:

—The fur should be lustrous and even in color down to the skin.

—The fur should be free from matted or scarred areas.

—The skin or leather backing should be firm, but soft and pliable.

—Seamlines where pelts have been joined should be practically invisible.

—The surface of a long-haired fur should be thick enough to protect the softer fur underneath.

—A natural colored fur is often better than a dyed one, since dying can make fur brittle if it isn't expertly done.

—Basic color will be enjoyed longer than a wild, faddish one.

If you are satisfied with the quality of the fur, then check the construction and quality of the lining and fasteners. If the coat is fabric with fur trim, the coat must be judged on its own merits in addition to the quality of the fur.

Since a fur coat or fur-trimmed garment will probably be worn for several years, give special attention to the design of the garment.
Styles that look well in fabric usually will also be a good choice in fur.

Consider the length of the fur and the effect of bulk it gives.

Since fur doesn't "give,"
make sure the garment fits comfortably over the types of garments with which it will be worn.

With good care, furs are quite durable. Use the following list when assessing a fur's durability.

—Very durable: otter, raccoon, mouton lamb, beaver.

—Durable: Persian lamb, dyed muskrat, Alaskan fur seal, kolinsky.

—Semi-durable: mink, nutria, marten, fox, leopard, sable, opossum.

—Semi-perishable: mole, squirrel, rabbit, broadtail, ermine, chinchilla.

Yule party in GC city hall

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler will host a Christmas party for boys and girls of the community at the city hall at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

The program will last until 10 p.m. Santa Claus has accepted an invitation to attend the event, the mayor said.

Former Granite Cityan fulfills a dream with her trip to Yugoslavia

Dimitri Stoyanoff, then 22, left Yugoslavia in 1909, leaving behind a wife who was seven months pregnant.

He came to America to work.
He knew he had a daughter, but his wife would not come to this country after the birth and would not send their daughter.

"His only dream his entire life was to go back home and see his daughter and her family," said Zora (Stein) Gibson of 405 Wagner Place, Washington, Ill.

This summer, Mrs. Gibson fulfilled her father's dream, 24 years after his death. On July 24, she and her husband, Olin, left for Yugoslavia, aboard JAT Yugoslav Airlines, on their first airplane flight and on their first trip overseas.

"It's not that my father didn't care about his family;
he did," the former Granite Cityan said.

He settled in Granite City, went to work for the Commonwealth Plant, and sent whatever he could back to Yugoslavia.

Forty years after his arrival, he married Julia Devoy (by this time his wife in Yugoslavia had remarried).

In 1944, Stoyanoff became a naturalized citizen and had his name changed to James Stein.

For 18 years after his death, Mrs. Stein continued to send whatever she could to his daughter and her family.
Now, six years later and after the passing of Mrs.
Stein, Mrs. Gibson has
family has been corresponding with the Yugoslavia family 41 years.

The Gibsons arrived in Skopje the evening of July 25, following a 10-hour flight from Chicago, which included a 15-minute stop in Zagreb and a three-hour stop in Belgrade.

The Gibsons were met by Vojo and Olga Dojcinovi, Mrs. Gibson's niece and her husband.

The Gibsons spent some time with her niece and family, including meeting the children, a nine-year-old son, Goran, and a 17-year-old daughter, Ana (who could speak some English).

On July 30, the family took the Gibsons to Ohrid for sightseeing. On July 31, they left Ohrid for Bitola, which is 35 miles east.

They arrived in Dohovo, a village three miles from Bitola and the home of her stepister.

Mrs. Gibson not only saw her stepister, Vasa Ilieva, and her husband, Christ, but also their son, Alexander, and his wife, Trianka, and the latter couple's two sons and married daughter and her infant son.

The Gibsons were welcomed by many strangers (to them), neighbors of her stepister, who wanted to see the Americans that came to visit.

Mrs. Gibson admitted she was frightened at the thought of the trip at first, because of the country's political uncertainty following the death of the premier, Marshall Tito.

Thoughts of being hijacked or taken hostage went through her mind, she said.

But her stepister is now 70 years old, and Mrs. Gibson realized she might not have a second chance to visit her.

While at her stepister's, the Gibsons went to the village of Lavei, where her father was born and raised.

The house had been bombed twice during World War II and was partially rebuilt (the second floor).

The original door to the house is still intact, Mrs.
Gibson said.

Stein planted three rows of grapes and a row of fruit trees.

"If I didn't see it, I would never have believed it. They are still there today," Mrs.
Gibson said.

In the house lives his niece.
Her son and his family live only a short distance away.

"They even showed me pictures of my father, my mother, my sister and my oldest brother, and all my relatives," Mrs. Gibson said.

While they were corresponding back and forth, pictures often accompanied the letters. She was stunned when she arrived at her stepister's house. "She has pictures all over of Olin, myself and our three sons, James Olin, Michael Anthony and Philip Andrew."

"There was our wedding picture on the wall with my father and my mother."

"Then there was another picture of me alone when I was in Job's Daughters in Granite City back in the '40s."

"There were pictures of our three sons all over, at different ages of their lives, including school pictures and pictures of each of their weddings."

"No matter where we looked there were pictures of us. They even had pictures of my father and mother taken in Granite City, that were in boxes. They seem to have more pictures than I do."

As they traveled for two weeks throughout Yugoslavia, Mrs. Gibson found the country scenic and mountainous.

Because of the limited land space, apartment units and high-rise buildings were common, built fairly close together.

Children play in the streets, because the yards are so small and cannot really be called yards.

The air is clean. The water is cold and good, with no chemical taste.

"There are no screens on the doors or windows, for there are very few bugs," she comments.

"They have modern conveniences like here.
However, the refrigerators are small and most people have apartment-size."

"Ice cubes are hardly used at all and most drinks, including beer and soda, are served warm. The soda over there is Coca-Cola or Pepsi Cola, but it doesn't compare to ours."

"In restaurants, when you are served drinks, they are warm."

"The people are friendly, and dress similarly to Americans."

"No matter what the temperature was, averaging in the eighties throughout the day, we could see the old people wearing coats and either hats or scarves."

"A lot of the Yugoslavian women dress in the traditional, heavy clothes."

"We visited many old churches and they were simply beautiful, the way they were built. No photographs were allowed at these churches."

"The streets are cobblestone and narrow. The cars there are small—VWs, Fiat's and Toyotas, just to name a few."

"It was interesting to see the way these people lived and it saddened us deeply.
Only the city people have modern plumbing. For others, it is just a little place out back."

"They have basically the same goods in their stores that we do here. But when the sons get married, they move in with the boy's parents and continue to live under the same roof no matter how many children are born. This is the custom, we were told."

"The one question that was asked most was why hadn't my father come to visit. It was hard to tell them that in these days, money wasn't too plentiful. He just didn't have the money. In the '40s, when war was on, it was also hard to plan such a trip."

The Gibsons both agree it was a "wonderful trip."

"They were treated 'like royalty,' but say there is no place like home and the United States of America."

"It takes a trip overseas to make one appreciate all we have here," they concluded.

For all of Madison County, the Census Bureau lists a preliminary total of 245,078, which is 2.3 percent below the final 1970 count of 250,917.

Housing units in Madison County are shown as aggregating 93,042, up 13.1 percent from 82,278. Average occupancy has decreased from 2.4 to 2.6.

Housing totals and occupancy averages for local governmental jurisdictions follow.

Granite City, 14,099 units, up 3.3 percent from 13,647; occupancy down from 3.2 to 2.5.

Madison, 2,459 units, a decrease of 4.7 percent from 2,581; occupancy down from 2.7 to 2.4 per household.

Venice, 1,279 units, a drop of 11.9 percent from 1,451; occupancy down from 3.2 to 2.6.

And Chouteau Township, 2,886 units, up 17.9 percent from 2,448; average occupancy down from 3.4 to 2.9.

A spokesman at the regional center in Chicago said the basic 1980 census of population and housing has ended in the 25 Illinois counties handled by the temporary census district office in Belleville. The Belleville office closed this fall.

The district office was responsible for taking the census in Madison, Clinton, Marion, Wayne, Edwards, Wabash, Washington, Jefferson, Hamilton, White, Randolph, Monroe, Perry, Franklin, Jackson, Williamson, Saline, Gallatin, Union, Johnson, Pope, Hardin, Alexander, Pulaski and Massac counties.

The spokesman commented,

"Preliminary figures for the local governments in these counties have been sent to the highest elected official in each county. These preliminary totals are, of course, subject to later revisions.

"Completed census questionnaires from the Belleville office have been shipped to a census processing facility, where they will be fed through high-speed equipment that microfilms each page.

"The microfilm will be scanned electronically and the data from the census forms—excluding names and addresses—will be transmitted directly to the Census Bureau's computers in Suitland, Md., just outside Washington, D.C."

The bureau is a unit of the U.S. Department of Commerce.

Census information is used for a wide variety of purposes, including the determining of national and regional population and housing trends, and the redistricting of Congress and state legislatures.

Divided vote on storage of construction supplies

On a divided vote, Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals has recommended that the Madison County Board Wednesday deny a variance which would allow the outside storage of goods and materials on Chain of Rocks Road just east of the canal bridge for Husband Construction Co.

A public hearing on the request was held on the site Dec. 9, after which the board voted four in favor of the variance and two against. Since five yes votes are required to endorse any request, the variance request failed to receive the endorsement.

Glenn Reichmann and Doyle Husband had requested the variance for the property, which is located in a B-3 highway business district of Chouteau Township. The business is located behind Reichmann Enterprises.

In other actions, the board has endorsed a request of Uddell Bishoff and Bryan Carter to rezone a tract of nearly 15 acres from its current agricultural zoning to an M-1 limited manufacturing district.

The property is located next to the Lakeside Driving Range on Route 162, Nameoki Township.

The board cancelled action on a request by Willie E. SIUE 11-day holiday closing

New 'Family' definitions

(This is the thirteenth in a series of 15 articles exploring "American Families in Transition." In this article, family expert Joseph H. Pleck focuses on three new family forms: the two-earner family, single-parent and remarried families. Copyright (c) 1980 by the Regents of the University of California.)

By JOSEPH H. PLECK
Childless couples and new sexual arrangements are popularly regarded as the two major new "family" forms that emerged during the last decade.

Actually, however, neither has had a major social impact compared to two-earner families and single-parent families.

It is true that somewhat more couples today than in the past are choosing not to have children. But their proportion is still less than 10 percent.

Further, the increase in the popularity of the "child-free" lifestyle is counterbalanced by the increase in the number of formerly infertile couples who, thanks to medical technology, can now have children.

The major change in childbearing patterns is couples having fewer children, and having them when the couple is older — not having NO children.

Unmarried cohabitation, a group marriage, or "swinging," homosexual arrangements have received much attention, but none when the couple is older — not having NO children.

Cohabiting couples have increased. Their numbers are still minuscule, however, compared to husband-wife couples.

Also, for many couples, cohabitation is a temporary prelude to marriage, not a permanent alternative to it. Non-traditional sexual arrangements receive far more attention than their numbers warrant. The major change in actual sexual arrangements is the increasing frequency of premarital sexual relationships.

Two other social changes have brought about the emergence of new family forms: increases in wives' rates of paid employment, and, consequently, two-earner families; and increases in marital disruption, leading to single parent and remarried families.

TWO-EARNER FAMILIES.
The two-earner family has become the dominant family form in our society today.

In 1978, both husband and wife held paid jobs in nearly 50 percent of all husband-wife families, compared to only slightly more than 25 percent in which husbands were sole breadwinners.

Almost 15 percent of couples have no earners, and other typical patterns make up the remainder.

Two-earner families will be even more prevalent in the future.

Many factors led to the rise of the two-earner family. Increasing wages, the growth of the clerical and service sectors, and new opportunities for women have drawn wives into the labor market.

Later marriages, declining birth rates, increasing education, and changes in attitudes have made wives more available for employment.

And inflation has made the wife's earnings essential to an increasing number of families.

Wage-earning wives — some of whom work only part-time — contribute about 26 percent of the total income of their families.

Although these working wives' earnings are substantial, their husbands make somewhat less than breadwinners who are sole providers.

Employed wives' time in family work and their paid work is considerable. Husbands of employed wives, however, perform only marginally (if any) more family work than husbands of non-employed wives.

EFFECTS OF WORKING WIVES.
Although the wife's contributions to family income appear to give her more power in making family decisions, the wife's employment does not generally seem to have much effect on marital happiness.

However, when there are preschool children or the wife has low education, employed wives report somewhat less happiness.

No doubt the wife's working seems to affect the break-up of marriages.

On the one hand, the wife who knows she can earn her own independence, making it easier for her to leave a bad marriage than the wife without a job.

On the other hand, wives' earnings improve their families' standard of living, which seems to increase marital stability.

Research has shown that mothers' employment does not, in itself, adversely affect children. Much depends on the mother's attitude and the quality of the care the child receives from her as well as other care-givers.

About half of employed parents with children 12 or under use some child care arrangement — in someone else's home, in their own home, or in a day care center.

Popular attitudes toward the two-earner family have changed in some respects, but not others.

Most people now believe that an employed mother can have as good a relationship with her children as a mother who does not work outside the home.

Nevertheless, about 50 percent of wives and 75 percent of husbands in a recent survey agree that "it is best for everyone involved if the man earns the money and the woman takes care of the home and children."

This ambivalence in popular attitudes is reflected as well in public policies regarding child care, income taxes, and Social Security.

Paradoxically, the United States is one of the most advanced countries in its governmental equal opportunity policy for women, but is simultaneously one of the least advanced in its provision of supports, such as child care services for employed mothers (and their partners).

SINGLE-PARENT AND REMARRIED FAMILIES.
Two other important new family forms are the single parent family and the remarried family — the result of increased marital disruption.

In the early post-war period, a gradual increase in divorce rates was counterbalanced by a gradual decline in the number of marriages disrupted by the death of a spouse.

In the 1960's and 1970's, however, divorces began to rise at a considerably faster rate.

By 1978, almost one in five American families was headed by a single parent, and all but 15 percent of them were women.

Most women who become single parents are divorced or separated. The majority remain within a relatively short time. Thus, in many cases, single parenthood is a transitional rather than a permanent state.

One in six children lives with only one parent at a given time. And the proportion of children now born to a single parent is increasing.

Joseph H. Pleck is program director of the Family Program at the Wellesley College Center for Research on Women. A clinical psychologist, he previously held appointments at the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research and at the University of Massachusetts's Center for the Family.

He is the author of numerous articles and of the forthcoming book, "The Male Role: Sex Role Identity and Sex Role Strain." He has also co-edited "Men and Masculinity" and "The American Man."

Funds from mansion's sale aids scholars

The Presidential Scholars Program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville was given a monetary boost Thursday when the SIUE Board of Trustees decided that the program will receive the earnings from $285,124 of the proceeds from the sale of the John M. Olin residence.

The university officials estimate the earnings, at current interest rates, should produce approximately 25 percent of the funds required to operate the Presidential Scholars Program.

Each year, 20 new scholars are admitted to the program, which was started in 1978.

The SIUE board approved the deposit of the Olin estate funds in a quasi-endowment fund, with the principal principal, the earnings designated for student scholarships. The funds have been in the university's general operating account since the Olin mansion, 1000 S. Main St., was sold by the university in April.

The property, located in Fairmount, overlooking the Mississippi River north of Alton, was given to the university by Mr. and Mrs. John Olin in 1975.

At the time of the sale, SIUE President Earl Lazerson said use of the money to strengthen and expand the Presidential Scholars Program would have a high priority.

When the property was given to the university, Mr. and Mrs. Olin had stipulated that the facilities be used exclusively for charitable, cultural, scientific, literary and educational purposes.

The decision to sell the property was made after the university concluded it would be unrealistic to proceed with the SIUE board of the cultural center in view of the state's stringent financial situation and the estimated cost of renovating the facilities.

Use of the property had been suspended in May 1977 when the university agreed with Fairmount residents not to use the mansion as a conference site, pending the outcome of a suit for an injunction and the university's subsequent appeal.

Burial will be at St. John's Cemetery. Visitation will be after 3 p.m. today, Monday, Dec. 15.

Opposition

Petrillo is running on Schuler's slate and Fireman Bill Hebert is seeking the treasurer's post on Partney's ticket.

Assessor Von Dee Cruse will be opposed by his former chief deputy Shirley Voegelé, it has been announced. Both have obtained petitions.

Three candidates have petitions for the Ward One aldermanic post, including incumbent Charles Douglas. Others circulating petitions for that seat are former alderman William Dallas Sr. and Leroy Mangiaracino. Incumbent Second Ward Alderman Fred P. Schuman Jr. and Joseph R. McGinness Sr. are the only ones to pick up petitions, thus far, for that ward.

In the Third Ward, three residents have picked up petitions for the seat being vacated by Alderman Roy Poulos. They are Eugene M. Starr, Carl Kittel and a former candidate Willard Herzog.

Incumbent Fourth Ward Alderman Glen Sprankle will face opposition from John Zikovich and Sharon Perjak, if both file the petitions they have obtained.

A two-way race is forming in the Fifth Ward, where Jake Varadani has obtained petitions to oppose incumbent Lloyd Bailey.

In the Sixth Ward, incumbent Alderman Earl Baker has not yet picked up his petitions, but three other residents of that ward—Walter Milton, Woodrow Moad and Steve Sallich—have.

Alderman Paul Ray Bowler and Michael Werth has picked up petitions, thus far, for the Seventh Ward. Persistent rumors continue to be circulated that Bowler is considering running, instead, for mayor of Granite City.

In Madison, eight incumbents whose terms of office are to expire April 31 have announced they are candidates for re-election. They are Mayor Mike Sanyk, City Clerk John Belicoff, City Treasurer Hilbert Hukstra, First Ward Alderman Don Reeves, Second Ward Alderman Ida Dant, Third Ward Alderman Tom Gordon, Fourth Ward Alderman Christ Costello and Fifth Ward Alderman Booker Walton.

Petitions will be available from the city comptroller in the Madison City Hall, starting today.

In Venice, Mayor Tyrone Echols, City Treasurer J. Alan Gardner Sr. and four incumbents aldermen have announced they are seeking re-election on the same slate. Aldermen running are John T. Fleig in the First Ward, Hank A. Sveiz in the Second Ward, John R. Ervin in the Third and Charles Haynes, who is serving by appointment as alderman of the Fourth Ward. Fleig also is serving by appointment.

City Clerk Lloyd Patterson intends to move from the city, so he is not planning to seek re-election.

Petitions of candidacy will be available this week, according to Roseann Koelker, Venice comptroller, who will distribute the petitions for both Venice city and Venice Park Board candidates.

Pontoon Beach will select three trustees and at least one new face will be on the board after April 30. Trustee Raymond Gaudette has announced he will not seek re-election. Other trustees whose terms are expiring are Donald C. Rea and Duane Skinner. Petitions are available, but none had been picked up. Village Clerk Mary Warren said Friday.

In the Venice Park District, three spots on the board are up for election—the six-year seats of Valeta Bauder and former board vice-president Joan Silas, and the two-year unexpired term currently being filled by Jon Gardner, who is serving by appointment.

The only announced candidate, thus far, is John Henry Williams, who has not said whether he will seek a six-year seat or the two-year opening. Petitions were late arriving, according to Board President Barbara Harrell, so none had been obtained by would-be candidates by Friday. The only other hold-over board member is George Tysus Jr., board vice-president.

In the Granite City Park District, only one seat is coming up for re-election the spot held by Board President George Sykes, who has announced he is a candidate. Petitions are expected to be available early this week.

With the exception of those in Granite City Township, the terms of all township officials in the Quad-City area will end April 31 and most are expected to seek re-election. Granite City Township Supervisor Nelson Hagnauer and Assessor Von Dee Cruse are the only officials running here, since the township and city share the same boundaries and the city's aldermen serve as the town trustees. Hagnauer has picked up his petitions and is, thus far, unopposed. Shirley Voegelé is opposing Cruse.

In Chouteau Township, the terms of office of all township officials are expiring and opposition petitions have been obtained. Terms ending are those of Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks, Highway Commissioner Wilfred "Red" Eberhardt, Tax Collector Cletus Bedwell, Town Clerk Patricia Polley, Assessor Marion Sparks and Trustees Charles Lexow, Steve Novosel, Dudley Luebbert and Tommy Johnson.

None have obtained their candidate petitions, but Mitchell resident Lee Poulos has picked up his petitions and is, thus far, presumably for an opposition ticket.

In Nameeki Township, two full slates have already announced their candidacies. First to announce was a slate headed by Harry Briggs for supervisor; Harold Davis, the current supervisor, running for highway commissioner; and incumbents Town Clerk Douglas Teeter, Tax Assessor Carl Macios and Tax Collector Freida Ballo seeking re-election.

Trustee candidates on Briggs ticket are W. Lee Adams, Andy Besserman, Jerry Adams and Jim Counts, all incumbents.

The other party, announced last week, will be headed by former Madison alderman Richard L. Kismier. On that slate are Lee Ridgeway for town clerk, Norman Hall for tax collector, David Partney for tax assessor and Frank Mehlich, seeking re-election as highway commissioner.

Trustee candidates on Kismier's ticket are Mrs. Helen Hawkins, Joseph Garcia, Jan Langenstein and Don Wilson.

In Venice Township, terms of office ending are Supervisor Christ Paschoff, Town Clerk Lawrence V. Bilbrey, Assessor Margaret J. Reideberger, Collector Jerry S. Maers, Highway Commissioner Ronald E. Taylor and Trustees Earl T. Mosley, Benjamin F. Honorable, Richard J. Paterson and John R. Piechocinski.

None have yet obtained petitions, but petitions have been given to Jimmy Kostoff Jr. and Bill Bolling, officials said.

Poulos to quit

pointment took no thought. "I hoped to get to see an overpass on Route 162 by Lake School. We really need it and it would be good for Granite City. I'm sorry we were never able to convince the state that we need it."

Poulos resides at 2213 Benton St., with his wife, Virginia. They have a married daughter, Deena, who teaches at Granite City High School North, and a son, Jan, 33, who is employed at the city's sewage treatment plant.

Poulos has been a lifelong resident of Granite City. He is of Catholic faith and is a member of the Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society and the East Granite Improvement Association.

During his years as an alderman, Poulos has collected a cigar box full of mementos, including a letter from John F. Kennedy in 1960 and a 1956 letter from the presidential candidate J. Edgar Hoover.

The box also contains two alderman badges, a couple of joke sympathy cards mailed to him during council elections, photos and other mementos. The council will never be the same.

There will never be a meeting like the one when Poulos had to read an ordinance aloud aimed at outlawing palmreaders in the city and containing words like phrenologists, cranialists, metapsychicists and physiognomists.

"Jeez, I only have an eighth-grade education," he said in frustration to the council.

There will be no more of the half-angry, half-joking "battles" between Poulos and Whitmer. There will be no more Roy Poulos expressing his pet peeves, such as slow condemnations, meeting after meeting.

Because, there will be no more Roy Poulos on the council after April, and things just won't be the same. He will be missed.

POSTAL AWARDS

A certificate received at the Granite City Post Office by two employees and the office as a whole are displayed Friday. From left, are: Gerald Rosenberg, superintendent of postal operations with an award given to the entire work force at the post office for doubling the employees contributions this year to the Combined Federal Campaign; Cordella Ward with a certificate she earned by successfully completing a postal training course for first-line supervisors at Bethesda, Md., earlier this year, and Elvin Siebert who was given an award for accruing more than 2000 hours of sick leave.

Next selective service registration Jan. 5-10

Selective Service registration for men born in 1962 will take place during the week of Jan. 5, 1981.

Men born in 1963 (and later) are to register within 30 days of their 18th birthdays.

This is a continuation of the program begun last summer, when men born in 1960 and 1961 visited post offices across the nation to fill in the registration form.

Purpose of registration is to build a pool of names and addresses from which the Selective Service System could draw in an emergency.

According to Dr. Bernard D. Rostker, director of the system, "Registration directly improves our capability to respond, actually reducing lead time by at least four weeks."

"We think that provides a significant advantage, especially when matched with the very low cost of the registration effort. Direct costs of registration are less than $2 per registrant."

"By way of background, one of the basic underlying assumptions of the all-volunteer force concept was that the country should always maintain a stand-by Selective Service, with an ongoing system of registration."

"When the draft ended in 1972, registration was continued until being suspended in 1975."

"Over the next few years, the capabilities of Selective Service steadily declined to an unacceptable level, prompting a total revitalization which began in November 1979."

"This program—of which registration is a part—is designed to return the Selective Service System to the readiness level required for an emergency back-up to our peacetime volunteer armed forces."

"Other actions under way include the development of greatly improved computer support, and the development of a training program for potential draft board members," Dr. Rostker said.

He listed the following registration guidelines:

WHO MUST REGISTER— Male citizens and aliens residing in the United States born in 1960, 1961 or 1962, except those on student or similar visas or who are members of trade or diplomatic missions, and except men already serving on active duty with the armed forces.

Members of reserve components not on active duty must register. Men born in 1963 and later years will be required to register within 30 days of their 18th birthdays.

WHEN: Men born in 1962: during the week of Jan. 5.

To help avoid lines, individuals will be encouraged to register on a day of the week keyed to the month of birth: on Monday, Jan. 5, for those born in January, February and March; on Tuesday, Jan. 6, for those born in April, May and June; on Wednesday, Jan. 7, for those born in October, November and December.

Friday and Saturday, Jan. 9 and 10, may be used as "make-up" days for those who are unable to register on the suggested day.

Men born in 1963: within 30 days of their 18th birthdays. Men born in 1960 and 1961 should already have registered this year; those who have not are being asked to do so as soon as possible.

WHERE: At any of the more than 34,500 U.S. post offices throughout the nation, or at embassies or consular offices overseas.

Young authors meet set

Harold E. Briggs, Regional Superintendent of Schools in Madison County, has announced plans for the 1981 Illinois Young Authors Conference. The conference, sponsored by the Illinois State Board of Education and the Illinois Reading Council, is designed to recognize creative writing abilities of pupils in special and regular programs in grades kindergarten through six.

The 1981 Illinois Young Authors Conference for Region III, which is that part of the state south of Chicago, will be held at the Grant Junior High School in Fairview Heights on Saturday, May 2, 1981.

Pupils invited to attend the conference will be selected by panels of judges in local school districts. Selection is based on pupils' creativity in writing projects, and hear a lecture by a noted author of children's works. Each participant will receive a certificate from the State of Illinois.

At the conference, pupils will discuss their stories in group sessions, work on writing projects, and hear a lecture by a noted author of children's works. Each participant will receive a certificate from the State of Illinois.

The state of Illinois, due to limited financial resources, has been unable to provide appropriations to fully support the state's share of local transportation costs.

"School districts have witnessed a pro-tration of all school districts in Illinois are eligible to send pupils to the Young Authors Conference. Parents interested in having their children participate may contact their local school districts. Sessions dealing with children's writing abilities will be held for parents accompanying their children to the conference.

Region III coordinator for the conference is LaKoma Morris, an assistant to Martha O'Malley, Regional Superintendent of the St. Clair County Educational Service Region.

Veto of school bus bill sought

Citing a $9 million to $15 million increase in funding that would be needed for school districts to transport students to nonpublic schools, the Illinois State Board of Education voted Thursday to urge Governor James R. Thompson to veto Senate Bill 1812.

The board voted to convey its opposition to the proposed law, which would require local school districts to provide transportation for students attending nonpublic schools within five miles of their homes.

"The state of Illinois, due to limited financial resources, has been unable to provide appropriations to fully support the state's share of local transportation costs."

"School districts have witnessed a pro-tration of state transportation funds each year since $20,750 school year, representing a loss in excess of $81.9 million in state funds," stated the board's resolution to the governor.

"The proposed law would impose a new financial obligation on districts and an additional constraint on already limited state funds for schools," the resolution added.

It recalls Thompson's recent message to the Illinois General Assembly in which he said Illinois is facing its tightest budget crunch since the 1978 fiscal year.

Chemicals are then added to the fiber to make it resistant to fire, water absorption and fungal growth, Jedele says.

Batt or blanket insulations generally are made from fiberglass, mineral wool or cellulose fibers — three of the four materials found in loose fill insulation. He explains that batt or blanket insulation is made to fit spaced either 16 or 24 inches apart.

The insulation is available in thickness from two to 12 inches. Batts are available with or without a vapor-retardant facing.

Rigid board insulation includes polystyrene beadboard, extruded polystyrene, urethane, isocyanurate and fiberglass. Polystyrene beadboard is manufactured by molding expanded polystyrene beads into a large block that is later cut into boards, explains Jedele. The board usually is white. Through use of fingernails, it's possible to peel out beads that look like popcorn.

Extruded polystyrene is manufactured by forcing polystyrene foam through a die that produces boards of the desired width and thickness. The cells of extruded polystyrene are tiny and cannot be separated from one another.

Urethane foam and isocyanurate foam are similar. Both are manufactured by placing a liquid foam between two sheets of paper or foil. Then these materials pass through a series of rollers that control the thickness of the foam. The foam can expand, while the paper can contract.

Fiberglass boards consist of fiberglass with a resin binder that has been compressed and surfaced on both sides with paper or foil.

Rigid board insulations are used under built-up roofing. Polystyrene, urethane and isocyanurate boards also are used as exterior sheathing on new houses or under new siding on old houses.

They also are used to insulate basements and crawl-space walls, and they can be used to insulate the edges of concrete-slab floors.

When polystyrene, urethane or isocyanurate boards are used in occupied areas of a house, such as a heated basement, they must be covered with 1/2-inch gypsum wallboard to provide fire protection.

Foamed-in-place insulation is another type of insulator.

Urethane foam can be foamed into a board or it can be sprayed in place. Jedele says it must be installed by contractors using special equipment. The foam expands to about 30 times its volume after it leaves the spray nozzle.

Sprayed urethane is combustible and some residential codes don't allow it. It should always be covered by 1/2-inch gypsum board for fire protection.

These home energy conservation facts are from the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service, in cooperation with the Illinois Institute of Natural Resources. For additional fact sheets on energy, Quad-Cityans may contact the Madison County Extension office, 900 Hillsboro, Edwardsville.

ARRESTED 2ND TIME. Russell B. Hughes, 27, was arrested in an apartment at 2300a State St. at 3 p.m. Thursday on charges of criminal trespass and criminal damage to property. 16 charges after chase early today

Sixteen charges were filed after a motorist was pursued by police at 4:20 a.m. today. Fifteen of the charges were lodged against William W. Talley, 20, of 3243 Edgewood Ave., who was placed in custody along with a passenger, William D. Irvin, 19, of 2634 Iowa St. The latter was booked for disorderly conduct after the two entered a driveway in the 2600 block of Center Street and were arrested there.

At one point in the chase, both the Talley auto and a police car were eastbound on 26th Street between Delmar and Edison avenues and the fleeing vehicle made a U-turn and headed west.

A police officer halted his vehicle to avoid the other car, but the Talley auto jumped a curb and its left front hit the left front of the patrol vehicle. The pursuit then resumed.

The incident began when police went to the 7-11 Store, Niedringhaus Avenue and Cleveland Boulevard, to take a report on customers who had been described as loud, abusive and profane.

A short time later, an auto passed a police car at 20th and Benton streets and appeared to be the vehicle sought in the store disturbance. The driver allegedly honked the horn to gain officers' attention, called out and made an obscene gesture.

The chase then occurred on Benton, 25th Street, Delmar, 26th, Benton, 25th, an alley between Benton and Adams streets, 27th Street, Michigan Avenue, St. Paul Avenue, Idaho Avenue, Benton, 26th and Center.

Talley was booked for seven stop sign violations, two instances of driving the wrong way on a one-way street, reckless driving, leaving an accident scene, fleeing and attempting to elude police, driving without lights, speeding and damaging city property.

Burglar takes Christmas gifts

Christmas good will did not deter a burglar from taking holiday gifts at the apartment of Brenda Homan, 1834 State St., it was discovered Thursday afternoon.

The intruder took four table games worth $40; three pairs of jeans costing a total of $40; four blouses valued at a total of $20; and two pairs of slippers and a belt buckle, valued at a total of $16. Entry was gained by forcing a door lock.

A juvenile apprehended as a suspect was taken at 2:30 p.m. Thursday to the Madison County detention home.

Session on CETA hiring Wednesday

The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Office of Research and Projects will sponsor a workshop for people interested in hiring Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) workers. The workshop will be held Wednesday in the Illinois Room of the University Center at 2 p.m. and is free and open to the public.

Purpose of the workshop is to provide the public with information on statewide research and training opportunities related to manpower development.

INJURED IN VENICE

Cathy Werner, 22, of the 800 block of Washington, Madison, was injured at 5 p.m. Friday when the front of her northbound car, after descending the Broadway viaduct, hit the side of the auto of Ramona Douglas, 16, Brooklyn, at Market Street in Venice. The Werner vehicle was towed to a garage.

PURSE, $92 TAKEN

The purse of Linda Shupert, 34 Kaseberg Park, was stolen from her parked auto while she was visiting at the home of her mother on Chouteau Avenue, Mitchell, Saturday evening. Items taken included credit cards and $92 in cash.

Fire at Nestle; fireman injured

A fire at 10:20 a.m. Thursday attracted seven fire department vehicles to the Nestle Company, Inc. instant tea manufacturing plant, 2101 Adams St., but no financial loss occurred.

Plant Manager Roger Higgins said. Included in the firefighting effort were two pumper trucks and an aerial truck. From the latter vehicle, water was directed downward into ductwork where spent tea leaves had caught fire.

A Granite City fireman, Daniel Worthen, suffered a left arm injury during retraction of the aerial equipment. Taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, he was treated for muscle bruises and then was released.

The spent tea leaves have no monetary value, Higgins said.

IEPA program would involve 46 test stations, 3.6 million cars

"Illinois Environmental Progress," official bulletin of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, details the vehicle emissions inspection and maintenance program which is at the heart of the Illinois State Implementation Program (SIP) for air pollution control.

A SIP is mandated; an extension to Dec. 31, 1987 has been granted for controlling ozone and carbon monoxide, considered excessive in this area.

The legislature has not adopted the scheduled implementation and maintenance (I & M) program required by the extension. The schedule must begin auto emission tests by January 1, 1983.

This is the program IEPA would put into effect if the legislature would pass the legislation.

"The IEPA is proposing that an I & M program be instituted in the Chicago and East St. Louis Metropolitan areas. It would involve eight counties, six in the Chicago area and two in the East St. Louis area.

"The inspection network would consist of 46 testing stations with a total of 164 test lanes. It would be operated by a private contractor who would also be responsible for constructing, equipping and staffing the stations as well as any other operating expenses.

"Based on the best available information it would take at least 18 months to construct and equip such a network of stations. Add to that the time necessary to select a contractor to construct and outfit the stations and it results in a lead time approaching two years.

The stations would conduct 4.9 million tests annually on the 3.6 million vehicles in the areas involved. This includes 1.3 million retests for vehicles that fail.

"Enforcements of the I & M program would be carried out by the Secretary of State withholding annual registration (license plates or stickers) to owners of vehicles which fail the test and are not certified as having been repaired to pass the test.

"The program would be self-supporting through inspection fees paid by motorists whose vehicles are to be tested.

Currently it is estimated that the testing fee would be $12.70 if the program consists of the following:

"1. An emission test for carbon monoxide and hydrocarbons at idle speeds.

"2. No under-the-hood checks.

"3. A maximum driving distance to test stations of eight miles for 99 percent of the motorists (six miles maximum in Cook and DuPage Counties).

"4. A maximum waiting time average of 12½ minutes during the busiest day at the test stations.

"The $12.70 fee could be reduced if the following actions were taken:

"1. A $3 reduction could be realized if renewals were evenly staggered over 12 months and each month divided into four intervals.

"2. A $1 reduction would be possible by allowing the average wait time during peak periods on peak days to rise to 26 minutes (65 percent of the motorists would experience wait times greater than 20 minutes and 45 percent would experience wait times greater than 30 minutes — during these periods).

"3. An additional 25 cents could be cut from the fee if the cost of operating the waiver centers was separated from expenses in operating the inspection stations.

"Several program options exist which would increase the fee. These include:

"1. An additional $1.25 to perform under-the-hood tests of the exhaust gas recirculation (EGR) system which also helps reduce emissions of oxides of nitrogen.

"2. For another $1.25 test devices could be individually inspected to see if they are functioning properly.

"3. For 28 cents the emission tests could be conducted at cruise operating conditions (rather than at idle speeds) using a dynamometer, also enabling an emission test for nitrogen oxides.

"These options are still being evaluated by the Agency.

"The inspection would be based on a pass-fail basis. Those vehicles that fail the test would have to be repaired to pass in order to have the vehicle certified. The certificate would be presented at the time of registration renewal in order to receive from the Secretary of State the necessary sticker or plate.

"The testing procedure would consist of an analysis of an exhaust gas sample for concentrations of hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide. The vehicle will pass the test if concentrations are less than the standard for that vehicle. The test would be automated and results printed out directly from the computer driven analyzers.

"Under the program certain vehicles are exempt. These include those 14 years old or older, all new vehicles for their initial registration, all diesel motor vehicles, interstate carriers, motorcycles, farm machinery and ceremonial vehicles.

"Fleet operators have the option of setting up a similar testing program of their own under state supervision with no contractor involvement."

Study success of smoking clinic

The Venice-Madison Advisory Committee met last week at the Venice City Council Chambers, to study the effectiveness of the Smoking Clinic. It was determined that there was a 90 percent success rate, based on participants who actually quit smoking.

It was agreed that if the committee sponsored another Smoking Clinic, publicity would be geared to a more personal level with better utilization of referral sources such as local doctors and schools. It was also noted that an alternative location, based on the size of the group, should be available.

The Advisory Committee was invited to attend a board meeting at the Mental Health Center in Granite City.

Plans for an orientation to the services offered by the Mental Health Center were also discussed and it was decided that an orientation would be held at the Mental Health Services, Southern Madison County, Inc., sometime in January.

The idea of sponsoring a Community Awareness Fair as a spring project was presented. The Advisory Committee will develop a planning guide for the Community Awareness Fair at the next Advisory Committee meeting.

The need to address the problem of lack of interest in education among upper elementary students and adolescents was mentioned by James Harrell. Some ideas included offering career exploration and life goals groups to students in addition to offering an awareness group for parents within the school.

Sandy Becker-Warden reported that Mental Health Services was proposing to offer some services to teachers and students in the Venice schools through a possible TENCO grant. It was suggested that this proposal be presented at the next Advisory Committee meeting.

Other ideas included offering some parent education groups or other social concern groups at the various housing projects, such as Garasche Homes and Lee Wright Center. A needs assessment study of the housing projects was suggested as a first step. These ideas will be further discussed at the next meeting.

She also reported on activities of Mental Health Services, which included a "Holiday Blues" group, a parent laboratory project, an adolescent girl's group as well as various other therapy groups currently offered.

A job opening at Mental Health Services for parent laboratory child care helper was also announced.

The Advisory Committee was invited to attend a Christmas open house on Dec. 18 at 3:30 at Mental Health Services Southern Madison County, Inc., 2024 State Street.

The next Advisory Committee meeting was scheduled to be held Jan. 19, 1981, at 5:30 at the Venice City Council Chambers.

Hart out of game, and so is Big Red

PHILADELPHIA—It was a bad day all around for the St. Louis Football Cardinals here yesterday. First of all, they lost the game to the Philadelphia Eagles, 17-3. Second, they lost starting quarterback Jim Hart at the tail end of the first half to severe pain caused by a cracked rib. Third, his replacement, second-year free agent Mike Lloyd didn't exactly burn thing up in the second half. And fourth, the Eagles rubbed salt in the wound by scoring with just second remaining in the game on an interference call on a long bomb and a Roger Jaworski pass.

Philadelphia, which can win the NFC Eastern Division with a victory over Dallas next week, looked like anything but a division champion yesterday. The Cardinals' patch-work defense held the Eagles scoreless through nearly three quarters. And the three Philadelphia scores were direct results of turnovers by the Lloyd-led Big Red defense, which never got untracked.

The lone bright spot for the Cardinals, if you can call it that, was the fact that star wide receiver Mel Gray continued his string of consecutive games in which he has caught a pass at 104, but he had to do it on the last play of the game, just before the final gun sounded.

Gray had no one to blame but himself for having to wait that long. Moments earlier, with the score 10-0 Philadelphia, he dropped what would have been a touchdown pass at the one-yard line of the Eagles. He also dropped three other passes right in his hands.

The loss dropped the Cardinals' record to 5-10, exactly what it was a year ago at this juncture of the season. It also ended a two-game St. Louis winning "streak."

Philadelphia scored after a fumble by Cardinal Tedious

Brown (actually, a bad handoff from Lloyd) gave it the ball on the St. Louis 40 yard line. Wilbert Montgomery finally scored on a nine-yard sweep around left end. The extra point made it 7-0.

The Eagles should have been ahead 13-0 at that point. In the first half, Philly tried to run for a first down on a fake field goal attempt. The try was no good, but punted the Cards on their own two-yard line. Late in the second quarter, Eagle kicker Tony Franklin hit the upright on another field goal attempt. Franklin also missed another attempt wide to the right.

But the Eagle kicker finally made one when he kicked a 19-yarder early in the fourth quarter.

The final Eagle score came on a Louie Grammon one-yard run with 30 seconds left.

Cahokia thrashes North Steelers

Special to the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY—The Cahokia Comanches wasted little time in showing the difference between the top teams in the Gateway East Conference and the ones who will probably be seeking up from the bottom this season.

Friday night, Cahokia did everything it wanted to do to Granite City North's young Steelers and walked away with an easy 76-36 victory.

The victory for Cahokia raised the Comanches' record to 5-0 on the season, while North dropped to 0-3.

Cahokia jumped out to an early 21-4 lead at the end of the first quarter and then took it easy from there. North played the Comanches even in the second quarter, with each team scoring 13 points. Back came the Cahokia regulars in the third quarter. They outscored North 26-4 in that period. Cahokia outscored North 14-13 in the fourth quarter.

Cahokia was led in scoring by Jon Collins who pumped in 28 points. Williams added 12 points for the Comanches. No other Cahokia player was in double figures, but many made it into the scoring column.

North's Steelers were led in scoring by Carl Luehmann, who pumped in 14 points. He was the only Steeler in double figures.

The next action for Granite City North will be Friday, Dec. 19 at home against Southwestern Conference school Collinsville. The junior varsity game will begin at 6:30 p.m., with the varsity contest immediately after.

Oilers keep on rolling

By TOM SCHOCKER

of the Press-Record

WOOD RIVER—One of these days, the Granite City South basketball team is going to win a game. When does, the opponent is going to know it got beat. But right now, the Warriors are just making their opponents feel like they got beat. South dropped another disappointing contest here Saturday to the Wood River Oilers 53-40.

If the Warriors could put together a complete game, they might have a couple of wins under their belts instead of being 0-6. But going against a hot-shooting Oiler squad that included the likes of 6-6 Dan Coddington, hitting the hole was something South couldn't afford to do without.

Yet, as it has been all season, there has been always some item that spelled frustration for South.

No more need be said than that the Warriors shot only 33 percent from the field for the game.

"They did play good," said South head coach Dan Deterding. "They just don't have confidence in their shooting and that's something that aggravates me. If they weren't good shooters, I wouldn't be upset, but they can't hit the hole. You should see them in practice. This is the first night I had to chew them out for not shooting more."

The poor percentage from the field wouldn't have been as bad if the Warriors could have spread it out over the entire game. But, the inaccuracy for the bucket was most significant in the second half and more predominantly in the fourth quarter.

Hitting a respectable 40 percent in the first half, the Warriors remained in striking distance, down four, 26-22. Their defense kept them in the game throughout the third period, allowing Wood River to just eight points. The Oiler lead was now down to two, 34-32.

Having a "cold hand" would not accurately describe South in the final eight minutes of the game. Attempting 15 shots, the Warriors connected on only three for a percentage of 20. It gave Wood River the chance to turn a tight contest into another easy win.

"We didn't answer at our end," said Deterding.

"When one or two guys miss, they all tighten up," Wood River had its answer in the final stanza—Coddington. He pumped in 12 of the teams 19 fourth quarter points along with a shot at the buzzer, giving him a game high 30.

"We knew he (Coddington) would get his points," said

Deterding. "Eric (Waltenberger) did a good job against him."

Waltenberger did manage to block two of Coddington's shots, but it didn't stop the 12 for 16 shooting performance from the Oiler work-horse.

It was the Warrior team that played their hearts out again. Causing Wood River to turn the ball over 22 times, South held the Oilers to eight points in the each of the second and third periods.

"When you hold a team to 53 points, you should win," said Deterding. "If you don't, something is wrong. But, I'll be frank with you. Never in my wildest dreams would I have thought we would be playing this good of defense, this far along in the game."

Deterding wasn't the only one that was impressed with the Warrior's play. "South is the best team we have played so far this season," said Wood River head coach

Darrell Burd. "I don't care what their record is. They really gave us a game. They played scrappy defense and the aggressiveness in their play, let you know they were there."

The defense was there, the offense was just left out. George Sykes headed South's sparse scoring barrage with 14 points.

"Sykes is supposed to shoot," said Deterding. "I had to yell at him to shoot more. He's my best."

"If you analyze our other losses, we have not shot very well," said Deterding. "I just hope and pray they keep up the intensity. When we get that first win, it may not turn our season around, but it will be a big plus. Like a pat on the back. That's what these kids need right about now."

Steamers learn a new word

By PETE HAYES

Sports Editor

ST. LOUIS—The high-flying St. Louis Steamers were brought back to Earth here last night.

The Steamers, one of pro sport's hottest items this season and last, were sailing along on top of the Major Indoor Soccer League's Central Division with a 7-1 record. After their 9-5 trashing at the hands of defending MISL champion New York at the Checker-dome before 11,245 stunned fans, there was a new word in the Steamers' vocabulary.

"Humility."

To put it bluntly, the Arrows ran the Steamers into the Astro-Turf last night. In fact, St. Louis was never really in the game. New York's Steve Zungul saw to that.

He figured in eight of his team's nine goals. The Arrows' All-Star forward scored five goals, giving 35 for the season. He also had three assists.

Statistics point out a St. Louis-dominated game. The Steamers outshot the Arrows 71-43. But the St. Louis chances weren't as good as were New York's. For instance, the Arrows scored a goal on each of their first two shots of the game. The goals were by Zungul and Branko Segota barely two minutes into the game and just 23 seconds apart.

The tone for the game was set with those two goals and was re-set when St. Louis' Tony Glavin had a penalty kick blocked by New York's All-Star goalie Shep Messing. The kick was awarded to the Steamers when New York's Nucky Megaloudis landed a hard elbow shot to Steamer Don Ebert's head inside the St. Louis penalty area after the action had already moved to the other end of the field. Glavin boomed the kick to the right of Messing, who managed to get his right arm on the ball and deflect it wide of the goal. The score at that time was only 2-1 (Glavin had scored after getting an assist from Ebert at the 9:55 mark of the first quarter). The save by Messing on the penalty kick was all the Arrows needed. They scored the next four goals of the game and had a commanding 5-1 lead at halftime. "It seemed as if we were playing catch-up soccer all night," said St. Louis head coach Pat McBride. "That's a hard thing to do in this league."

St. Louis, which had started Manny Schwartz in goal, switched to Slobodan Iljevski in the second half. But barely one minute into the third period, New York showed that it didn't care who was minding the nets for the Steamers. Segota scored his second goal of the game off an assist from Zungul to make it 6-1. It turned out to be the eventual winning goal.

St. Louis came storming back, but it was too little too late. First, it was Tony Belling's turn rather slowly and into the far left-hand corner of the net.

Then came Steve Pecher and Glavin. Both scored through a maze of feet and legs from scrabbles outside the New York goal. Glavin's goal made it 6-4 and suddenly, it was a game again. But not for long.

Zungul scored just 50 seconds later at the 12:46 mark making it 7-4. He did it again at the 13:17 mark making it 8-4. End of comeback.

Zungul scored his last goal in the fourth period, followed seconds later by the Steamers' last goal, by Emilio Romero.

What went wrong for the Steamers? "There's not one single answer you can put your finger on," said McBride. "But you have to give Zungul his due. You can't recall afford to doubt a team him, because they've got other people who can burn you."

Romero was philosophical about his team's second loss of the season. "This game is just one out of 40," he said. "We'll just have to come out and do it next game. I feel a little sorry for the next team, because we're going to take it out on them."

New York's Messing said, "We have more skill than they (St. Louis) do. But they've got spirit and aggressiveness."

The next action for the Steamers will be Wednesday at 7:35 in the Checker-dome against Buffalo.

South skaters hold on

By PETE HAYES

GRANITE CITY—A trend may have started here Saturday. For the first time in three years, that Granite South has had a hockey club, the site for the game was held on the Warriors' "home" ice in Wilson Park. Thoroughly inspired, the Warriors skated to a 4-4 tie with McCluer North in a North Division battle at the Park District Ice Rink. Continued fine play by South just might make the home appearances a regular thing.

With most of the Warrior's contests played in St. Louis at the North County Rink, South was given two home games at the Park District Ice Rink. The other home game is slated for Jan. 24 against Hazelwood East.

Playing in the North Division of the Mid-States High School Hockey League for the third year, South was faced with tough competition. Having to skate with the likes of Hazelwood Central and East, McCluer and McCluer North, the Warriors dropped their first league game to St. Charles 5-1 last week. Gary Brown scored the goal with an assist from Bill Schrieber at the 12 minute mark of the first period.

Against McCluer North, though, South played like a veteran squad. Applying pressure early, the Warriors kept up an assault that would last 42 minutes. Out-shooting North 32-28, the Warriors had victory within their grasp. But a blast from Bill Vancil found the net past South goalie Chris Hinterser with 5:23 left in the game.

For Vancil, it was his second score. He connected on his first tally with McCluer's initial score of the game. Stewart Glenn and Rick Witzel assisted on the goal at the 9:56 mark of the first quarter.

Tim Dix got the Warriors on the board six minutes later with assists coming from Pat Theis and Terry Pritchard. "Dix and Theis are our penalty killers," said Warrior head coach Harold Dix. "They have played Dix for a number of years."

It was McCluer that handled the penalty killing in fine fashion. Ten seconds after the Dix tally, McCluer was whistled for slashing. But South couldn't convert on the man advantage. Jeff Crowder drilled in a short-handed goal for McCluer with 2:24 remaining in the period.

The Dix-Theis combo

pulled South even as the Warriors completely controlled the second period.

Theis was on the scoring end of the goal while Dix lent an assist. "Basically I just used two lines instead of three," said (coach) Dix. "I was playing mostly juniors and

Steelers remain unbeaten with 'easy one'

GRANITE CITY — Walt Whitaker hasn't really had time to feel the full impact of the results of his Granite North wrestling team's season thus far. Coming up with a clutch win over a powerful Belleville West, the Steelers pulled off another major upset here Friday. They practically walked away from a strong Hazelwood East of St. Louis 45-37. A team that Whitaker felt was equal to West.

Like an unstoppable force, the Steelers improved their season record to 6-0 and have done so in very convincing fashion. As a matter of fact, Whitaker hasn't had the opportunity to be disappointed with his squad. "I can sense the confidence building in them," said Whitaker. "In practice, they're more loose and they even joke around. The tightness is not there."

When North stepped on the mat against Hazelwood, it was all business. Greg Nemeth, as he does every meet, kindled a flame that grew rapidly for North. At 98, Nemeth handled his man, Bill Strubel, from Hazelwood 105. An easy bout, or so it seemed. "Nemeth's match was not as easy as the score might indicate," said Whitaker. "It was a pretty good match. The Hazelwood wrestler was in it almost the whole time. At 105, North had complete control. Only because the Hazelwood man was out with an injury. On that note, Mike Robinson was given a forfeit win. "Our 98 and 105 usually set the tone for the match," said Whitaker. The tone was quite clear.

Steve Smith wrestled hard with Hazelwood's Harold Baker at 112 for five and half minutes before putting an end to the match with a pin. One of four the Steelers were to come up with. Gerald Miller disposed of Dan Marks from Hazelwood 119 in the second period at 119, while Rod Unger at 126 and Steve Gibson at 132 produced identical 8-0 shutouts for victories. The fire was blazing strong for North.

At 138, Glenn Thompson slick Steve Strubel from Hazelwood midway through the second stanza and Monte Kessler completed the kill with a pin late in the third period over Mick Crowley at 145. "They had to work hard for their pins," said Whitaker. "I thought it would be a closer meet. I thought we would win, but I figured Hazelwood's score would be in the 20's. A couple of pins can make the difference in a match, though."

Piling up an insurmountable lead through eight weight classes, the Steelers dominance was abruptly halted. Scott Corey was undefeated, 6-0, at 155 pounds. It took just 22 seconds to change that. Against Mike Gentry of Hazelwood, Corey shot down for the initial takedown of the match. But, just as quickly, Gentry went over the move and caught Corey in a cradle and pinned him. "It was real shocking," said Whitaker.

The sudden turn-around might have had its effects for the remainder of the meet. Bob Patton had to settle for a 13-13 draw in a wild match at 167 with Russ Little. At 185, Dave Owens was pinned by Hazelwood's John Brown early in the third period.

Th usual steady performer, Tim Wyrstek, also had his unbeaten streak snapped. Hazelwood's Gerald Nichols found an escape in the last 30 seconds of the match to beat Wyrstek 6-5.

But according to Whitaker, the loss to understandable and Wyrstek had wrestled an excellent bout. "Nichols is probably the best heavyweight on both sides of the river," said Whitaker. "I think he's even a major college football prospect."

"The upper weights held their own," said Whitaker. "They have given us much more balance. I'm really happy with the performance of our younger wrestlers against the tough opponents. It works on their confidence."

GERALD MILLER of Granite City North looks up at the scoreboard to see how much time he has left in his bout. Friday, Miller and his teammates cruised to an 'easy' victory over Hazelwood East.

Trojans back on win track with 69-50 romp

By TOM SCHOCKER of the Press-Record

MADISON — People in Madison aren't used to their high school basketball team losing many games. As head coach Larry Graham puts it, "If Madison loses two games in a row, everyone panics."

Well, the Madison High School basketball Trojans came home Friday and reassured their fans, very calmly, with a 69-50 beating of the Assumption Pioneers.

After giving up 101 points in the last game, Graham had to be pleased with the defensive effort from Madison. "We got the defense down to half court," said Graham. "When we learn to play it better, we'll expand it to full court. I thought they (Assumption) would have a little trouble scoring."

The Trojans were on the verge of putting an end to the game early as the high-flying Patrick Hatter took to the skies. Slamming down two of his game high 23 points, Hatter sparked Madison to an eight point barrage. Up 10-4, the Trojans had thoughts of runaway. But Assumption didn't give up.

Pioneer Tony Berry got his team into the contest with eight first quarter points and the lead on a shot with three seconds on the clock. A lead that was only to be gained once more. Berry led Assumption with 18 points. With its backs, somewhat, against the wall, down 14-13, Madison turned the game over to its scoring machines.

Hatter hitting from the outside and Morris Hughes putting up points from the inside with feeds from Kerwin Stanley, opened up the contest.

Running off streaks of eight and six unanswered tallies, Madison totaled 19 second quarter points and never had need to look back. Hatter dropped in 10 tallies, while Hughes went four-for-four from the free throw line.

"Stanley and Hughes are my 'Mr. Outside and Mr. Inside,'" said Graham. "Stanley did a good job tonight. He deserved a chance to play after being sick last week."

You can't say Madison didn't give Assumption the opportunity to make a game of it, though. For nearly two and a half minutes, the Trojans went up and down the court without hitting the bucket. Of course, the Pioneers followed suit, as they couldn't score during that time.

With the game well in hand, the Trojan crowd was still able to be brought to its feet. Graham inserted Billy Papa into the line-up midway through the final stanza.

It was time for some razzle-dazzle.

Papa used some slick ball handling and nifty behind the back passes with the cool and precision of a four-year veteran to send the crowd into hysteria. Madison upped its advantage to 20 with another string of unanswered points. The count this time was 10 with a Pioneer score.

"Papa just came out and demoralized the other team," said Graham. "He's a good spot player and a hell of a passer. He plays back up guard to Stanley."

Papa was only one of 15 Trojan players that made an appearance into the game. Graham emptied his bench late in the contest. "I had really good bench production tonight," said Graham. Mark Madgett was one. He came in the game to pump in seven points in the fourth quarter and nine overall.

Venice makes Summer 'look good' in loss

By DOUG IRVIN of the Press-Record

ST. LOUIS — The Venice Red Devil basketball team made the Summer Devils look pretty good Saturday night at Vashon High School when Summer almost broke the clock with their 97-70 victory.

Archie Gardner of the 6-4 Red Devils gained top scoring honors with 22 points, one more than Glenn

Rowe of Summer (3-2). Three more Venice athletes were in double figures — Kenneth Walker with 11, Kenneth Wise and James Cox both with 10. Summer had a total of five cagers in double digits.

The 32 minute game went quickly with a total of 58 turnovers throughout the contest. Thirty-four of them were by Venice — which seemed to be in a big hurry and didn't think much throughout the game. Passes would hit them in the hands and would be mishandled and stolen by a Bulldog.

"They (Venice) didn't want this game," said Ken Perkins, Venice's head coach. "We didn't take our time, we just played run-and-gun."

The game looked like it might turn out to be a good one, until the first three minutes were over with. The score was tied at 6-6, then something happened. Either Summer fired up or Venice gave up. Summer scored six straight points on three Venice sloppy turnovers.

Summer led by ten, 25-15, at the end of the quarter.

The same thing happened in the early minutes of the second quarter. Summer tallied six to two of Venice. Up 53-7 left in the half, Venice started playing ball again — for a while.

The Red Devils scored ten points to seven of Summer, but slacked off and Summer took a 17 point lead into the locker room, 53-36.

The rest of the game was a repeat of the first half until Summer rallied with six points to make 97. With 42 seconds left in the game, Venice played some defense and didn't allow Summer to turn the clock over, in fact, they even scored three points in the process for a 97-70 final score.

Venice missed six front ends of possible one and one free throw situations. They only shot for 48 percent from the line. And they were good for 45 percent from the field making 30 of 66. Summer made 41 of 87 from the field for 47 percent.

VENICE (70) — Marchbanks 2, Wise 18, Williams 4, Gardner 22, Miller 2, 18, Walker 11, Ware 5, Wiley 4. PG 28, FT 18.

OFFICIAL WATCH INSPECTOR FOR ICG, ILLINOIS TERMINAL, NICKEL PLATE, ST. LOUIS TERMINAL AND C&I

By AL BARNES of the Press-Record

ON THE ROAD — At this stage of their last year's basketball campaign, Coach Jim Dudley's Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville hardwood squad was zooming along at 2-4 record. This is, comparatively speaking, they were a little better off than this current edition of the SIUE basketball team which lost Saturday night at Evanston, Ill., to the Wildcats of Northwestern University, 75-55.

Now, 1-5 for the season after the same number of six games, the Cougars face the grim prospect of playing their next eight contests on the cold and definitely hard road, including tonight's (Monday) game against St. Joseph College at Kenosha, Ind.

This Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the Cougars play in the Chicago State University invitational tournament. Then, after Christmas and right at New Year's, they'll take part in the St. Cloud U., tourney in Minnesota, Dec. 29, 30 and 31.

And, if that schedule wasn't tough and foreboding enough, their final road game in that nasty 8-game schedule ends up by the Cougars invading the Illinois of the University of Illinois Assembly Hall Saturday afternoon (3 p.m.) Jan. 3.

The loss at the hands of the Wildcats who are, by the way, off to their best start in many years, 5-0, wasn't all bad for the Cougars. They got a terrific performance from their own edition of a David Thompson, slender Henry Felton, guard from Southeast High in Springfield, Ill.

Felton hit on seven-of-13 from the floor and led all scorers in the game with 19 points. His running mate at point guard, Scott Kabbes, racked up 10 points, while old dependable sophomore Ted Smith poured in 12.

Wildcat forward, Gaddis Rathel, paced the winners with 16 points. The game stats disclose a usual development for a Dudley coached team: Northerners garnered more shots than the Cougars, 71-52.

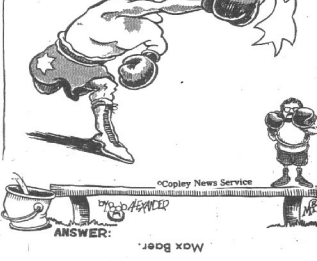

SIUE (55) — Smith 12, Fumetani 4, Kabbes 10, Felton 19, Pickens 7, Hamilton 6, Taylor 3, Gray 2. PG 23, FT 17, PF 17.

Comanches surprise Edwardsville

CAHOKIA — The Cahokia Comanches surprised Edwardsville's tigers here Saturday night, winning a critical Gateway East Conference game 62-53.

The Comanches, who remained undefeated with the victory, were led in scoring by Jon Collins, who pumped in 26 points. Edwardsville, which suffered its first loss of the season, were led in scoring by Paul Schaefer, who was one point behind Collins for game-high scoring honors with 25 points. Edwardsville jumped out to a 32-28 lead at halftime, but the Comanches came from behind in the third quarter and held off the Tigers in the fourth period.

Bruce Dickman scored 17 points for the Tigers, while Williams and Johnson scored 12 and 10 points respectively for the Comanches, who buried GEC rival Granite City North 76-36 Friday night (see related story).

Wrestlers have easy time with Parkway N.

By DOUG IRVIN
For the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Even though Granite City South is a little weaker in the lower weights, wrestling the Warriors recorded pins in their top five weight classes to stomp the Vikings of Parkway North 50-9, here, Friday night.

The Warrior grapplers wrestled to take all 12 original takedowns even though they lost two bouts. Sophomore Warrior Rob Steiner scored his only two points in the first period against Viking Jeff Eissman. Eissman reversed Steiner half way through the second stanza and with a leg lock and a half-nelson, Parkway recorded six team points at the 3:27 mark.

Senior Warrior Chris Cottrell, at 105, scored a five second takedown against Senior Tom McElroy at 1:38. Parkway's Mike Flynn, in the second period, used a ripcord to score three nearfall points. Flynn scored two more points in the third to win 5-2. Parkway led 9-0, but they were destined to score no more.

At 112, South's junior Mike Trgovich defeated Rob Mudd 4-0. Greg Garland, a senior 118-pounder for South, stuck Jeff Zukerman with a near side cradle 119-pounder for South, stuck Jeff Zukerman with a near side cradle at the 1:26 mark, which was one second quicker than North's Jerry Miller's fall time against Zukerman, last Tuesday.

With the score tied at 9-9, Sam Givens, a junior for South at 128, won 7-4 against Mike Cohen. Randy Lupardus, at 132, scored seven points in the opening period to beat Bob Elftaubum 10-4.

Senior Tom McElroy at 138 scored five takedowns enroute to his 17-3 romping of Mike Adelstein. This made the team score 20-9 with the five heaviest divisions left to go.

South recorded falls in every one of those remaining five. At 145, sophomore Ken Frangoulis used a half-nelson to stick David Parks at the 3:04 mark. At 155, senior Dean "I love being mean" Perkins flattened Paul Karagiannis with a double-grapevine at 5:03 after raking up a 1902 lead.

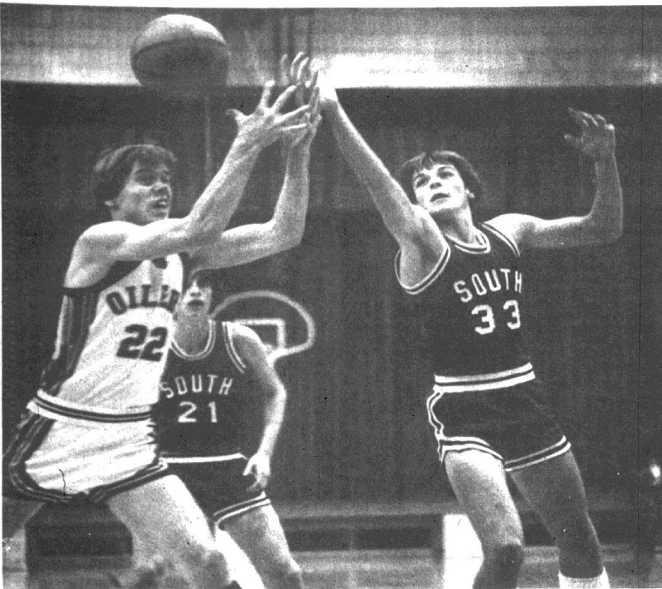

With a straight jacket at the 2:34 mark, junior Ken Dowdy pinned his 167-pound Mike LaZael. Getting the most reaction from the crowd was Jim Frangoulis at 185 pounds. Frangoulis shot for a double leg take down, picked Viking Scott Feldman up, and before setting him down, Frangoulis planted a half nelson and blocked the legs of Feldman. When he put Feldman to the mat, referee slapped the mat for a 3:49 pin.

Senior heavyweight Bruce Monahan recorded the quickest fall of the evening with a nelson at the 55 second point of his match with Kevin Ferrero.

"South really picked up around 119," said Parkway's coach Fran Martin. "We wrestled in a better frame of mind tonight than we did against (Granite) North last Tuesday. (North beat the same team 8-4.) We came to wrestle tonight."

Bill Schmitt, veteran coach of South, with a record of 6-0 on the season, said "We were aggressive on our feet tonight. The kids worked hard. But we'll find out just how good we are this weekend."

Friday at 7:30 p.m., South travels to St. Charles to wrestle usually tough Francis Howe High School. On Saturday afternoon at 1, Normandy pays South a visit.

seniors. The last game, we held our own in the first and second period, but fell apart in the third."

Gary Brown and Bill Schreiber performed a two-on-one break to near perfection early in the third period. Schreiber's pass slide right onto Brown's stick, who only had to slap it past the McCluer goalie.

Playing a relatively sound game in goal, Hinterser made one mistake. And against a good skating team like McCluer, it meant trouble. On a long range shot by McCluer, Hinterser attempted to clear the puck to his teammate who was supposed to cross the middle. However, the pass was made and the player was not there. A McCluer skater was there instead to pick up the loose puck and slip it past for the tie.

"We kept the pressure on them," said Dix. "This goes back to the more experienced players." South's hustle was rewarded once again when Brown, on an assist from Ron Snelson, scored a power-play goal at the 6:41 mark.

The Warrior defense prevented McCluer from grabbing a last minute win. McCluer hit the post a number of times after it had tied the score for the final time. "I thought we should have won," said McCluer head coach Dave Carpenter. "But, I didn't think we deserved to win. Granite outskated us. They play a lot like St. Charles. They keep coming at you all night."

"You couldn't ask for anything more," said (coach) Dix.

NOTES: With the tie, South's record now stands at 0-4 overall and 0-1-1 in the North Division. Before the Warriors started league play, they dropped three straight. In their opening match, Vianney had an easy time with the Warriors, 11-1. South made it close on the following in its next game, but still lost to St. Mary's 4-2.

On Dec. 6, the Warriors faced three-time Mid-State champion DeSmet. They tied 4-1. South's next contest pits them against McCluer in another North Division game at the North County Rink Saturday.

U.S. kickers will take part in tourney

NEW YORK — The United States Soccer Federation announced today that the United States National Youth Team, in the first stage of preparations for the 1981 FIFA World Youth Championship in Australia, will play for the prestigious Paulo Machado de Carvalho Cup, an eight-tournament that will take place January 11-18 in Brazil.

Eighteen players have been selected by Coach Bob Gansler to play for the National Youth Team in the upcoming tournament. The squad of 18 includes 13 players who were with the Youth Team last August when it was the runnerup in the 1980 CONCACAF Youth Championship and thus became the first U.S. team ever to qualify for the world youth tournament.

The Brazil tournament, sponsored by the Confedacao Brasileira de Futebol (Brazil Soccer Federation), requires that all participating players must be born after Aug. 1, 1961, the same age specification as next October's world championships. The tournament, to be staged in three Brazilian cities, will be comprised of the national youth teams of France, Columbia, Bolivia, Paraguay, Chile, Uruguay, Brazil, and the United States.

The teams have been divided into two groups for the qualification round, with the U.S. contingent assigned to compete with Brazil, Chile, and Uruguay in the Ribeirao Preto venue. The city of Campinas will be the site of a second venue during the qualification round. The final round, to be played Jan. 17-18, will be contested in Sao Paulo.

"With the world championships in Australia less than a year away, it is important for our players to gain international exposure competing against different styles of play," said National Youth Coach Bob Gansler, who will direct the team, with National Staff Coach Jay Miller serving as assistant coach during the venture.

"The Brazil tournament will enable us to play some of the best youth teams in the world, some of which we may go up against in Australia," added Gansler. "I expect the opposition in Brazil will be very competitive; the ideal caliber teams we want to play before the world championships roll around."

The National Youth Team will train at the University of Tampa, beginning Jan. 1. The young Americans, who will depart for Brazil on Jan. 8, will play an exhibition match against the Bavarian Amateur Selection of West Germany on Jan. 7 (7:30 p.m.) at Jesuit High School in Tampa.

Among the returning players that excelled during the CONCACAF tournament are leading scorer Kevin Fouser, goal-scoring leader

Tom Kain, Captain Bill McKeon, and goalkeeper Craig Scarpetti, who recorded three shutouts and compiled an impressive 0.66 goals against average in the qualifying event for the world youth championship. Among the five players who were not with the Youth Team last summer is Jeff Durgan, who was with the Youth Team for the 1978 World Cup at the University of Honduras and was the North American Soccer League's 1980 Rookie of the Year while playing for the New York Cosmos.

"We have a strong nucleus returning from the CONCACAF tournament," said Gansler, who assisted National Coach Walt Chyzowych with the Youth Team during the USSF-hosted tourney.

County may sue Granite City Wednesday over sewer dispute

Wednesday's meeting of the Madison County Board is bound to be a busy one, with many items on the agenda of importance to the Quad-City area.

In addition to establishing a local transit board and settling several zoning issues, the county board will be asked to file suit against Granite City in an attempt to settle a county-city dispute which has kept the new sanitary sewers in Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice Townships from starting operations.

The Granite City Council also is expected to discuss the possible suit at Tuesday night's council meeting. The city council will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the city hall and the county board will meet at 9 a.m. Wednesday in the Madison County Courthouse at Edwardsville.

Additional pressure to get the sanitary sewers in operation came last week when the county's special sewer committee, chaired by County Board Member Louis Whitsell, turned down a request by Pre-Coat Metals which is constructing a plant on Route 3 north of West Pointon Road, to begin using the sewers and be billed after the fee issue is resolved.

Company officials said the building cannot be heated now, because the boilers require a sewer outlet for boiler wastes. Also, the sanitary facilities, including washrooms at the plant, cannot be used until the sewers are opened.

A letter was sent to the county board and to Granite City by Roy Werner of Pre-Coat Metals, reminding them that the company was promised sewer service by Dec. 1. Letters signed by Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer and Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler to that effect are in his possession, Werner said.

Any delays could delay the proposed start-up of the plant, scheduled for October, 1981.

Hagnauer favors hooking the plant onto the sewers early, but Whitsell said he opposes anyone being allowed to use the sewers until the rate issue is settled with the city.

Whitsell also said the backup generators have not yet been installed for the two lift stations which would have to be activated to enable Pre-Coat to use the sewers.

The county board is to consider Pre-Coat's request Wednesday morning, along with a request by the sewer committee that an already-prepared suit against the city be filed with the circuit court.

The suit, prepared by H. Carl Runge, attorney for the sewer committee, asks the court to force the city to honor a 1972 contract setting out the rates the county sewer district will be charged for treatment of sewage at the city's sewage treatment plant.

City officials contend the contract is no longer valid, since several provisions of the contract were not met by the county, including the date the system was to have been in operation. The city wants to charge county users the same $13 per quarter (each three months) it charges city residents for sewer service, plus a $10 per quarter surcharge to repay city residents for money they already have paid to retire bonds on the giant sewage treatment plant. The plant was built too large for just the city's needs, in anticipation of the county sewers using the plant, so the city residents have had to pay more on the bonds than if a smaller plant had been constructed, city officials said.

The $10 per quarter surcharge has been charged all sewer users residing outside of the city since the surcharge ordinance was passed in 1978, it was noted.

There have been no discussions since October between the city and the county on the rate issue. Whitsell said that after the October meeting, city officials were to prepare a written proposal and submit it to the county within a week. He said they have failed to do so.

The suit the committee wants to file is only to determine whether the 1972 contract is valid. Whitsell said. Once the validity or non-validity of that contract is determined, negotiations between the city and the county can resume in hopes of arriving at a quarterly treatment charge for users of the new sanitary sewers.

Need of bridge commission noted in study

By KARL L. MONROE

A massive document details a two-year study of the St. Louis central business district bridges made by a team of East-West Gateway Coordinating Council experts. It concluded that the best solution to the problem was a Bridge Commission to take over all five CBD bridges and manage them in a coordinated manner.

Les Sternman was project manager. Deborah Benoit did the legal analysis.

Four of the five bridges, Martin Luther King, Eads, MacArthur and McKinley are falling into increasing disrepair and, aside from peak hours, are rarely used by the area's residents. The remaining bridge, the Poplar Street Bridge, is used almost to capacity and is congested with traffic at peak hours.

A "worst case" scenario discussed by the study contemplates Martin Luther King Bridge and MacArthur Bridge falling into such disrepair they cannot be used. This would obviously increase ridership on the other bridges, perhaps increasing revenue on the Eads and McKinley Bridges enough to pay for their maintenance, but at severe inconvenience to the public.

The study finds serious crowding on Poplar Street Bridge at peak hours, although not yet critical. By 1995, it will be, unless something is done, the study concludes.

A variety of strategies is discussed. One favored by the study team would involve takeover of the bridges by the entity capable of managing them in a coordinated way (the states, Bi-State Development Agency or a bridge commission) and a four-stage improvement program.

Stage one would perform, at a minimum, extended maintenance on each of the four older bridges (approximate cost $15,453,000, duration: two years). All four bridges will be necessary to sustain future traffic volume, and all will require substantial rehabilitation to remain in service.

Also recommended is improving signing to acquaint motorists with ways to get to bridges other than Poplar Street bridge.

Stage two would implement the traffic operations plan recommended for King Bridge (reversible bridge). If sufficient funds are available to build the King 1-70 ramps on the Missouri side, interim intersection improvements should be made until those funds are forthcoming (approximate cost: $26,600,000, duration: two years).

Stage three would perform full rehabilitation on each of the four older bridges to assure long-term structural integrity and reduce annual maintenance costs (approximate cost: $33,742,750, duration: two years).

Stage four would perform adequate continuing maintenance on all four bridges to guard against physical deterioration (approximate cost: $2,140,000 per year, duration: indefinite). Two inter-related questions are raised: how will improvements be financed? And should tolls be charged?

A table on the current value of the CBD bridges shows MacArthur Bridge (built in 1917 at a cost of $10,701,000 and owned by the city of St. Louis) now valued at $7,000,000. It has no bonds outstanding and costs $250,000 to operate. It brings in no revenue on the vehicle deck, which is in very bad repair (it is toll-free) but railroads pay tolls of $1,742,000 yearly.

Eads Bridge, constructed in 1874, is a national historical landmark. As recently as 1974, trains operated on its lower deck. The Terminal Railroad owns it. Tolls at 30 cents produce insufficient revenue to pay the maintenance. Eads Bridge is valued at $24,000,000.

Martin Luther King Bridge was built in 1951 by the city of East St. Louis. Its 30-cent toll does not produce enough money to pay maintenance or pay interest on the bonds, which are in default. Outstanding bonds of $7,275,000 are estimated to have market value of $2,182,500, which is shown as the possible cost of acquisition. Annual operating and maintenance costs are $525,000, annual revenue $389,200, annual payments on bonds and interest (if made) are $1,562,000.

McKinley Bridge was built in 1910 and purchased in 1958 by the city of Venice. The ITRR has temporarily discontinued operating on the bridge. Since the completion of Illinois Route 3, bridge business has increased and the 30-cent tolls pay for maintenance.

Poplar Street Bridge opened in 1967. It is the only one of the five CBD bridges on the interstate system and the interstate convenient highways feed it. It carries 78 percent of the traffic, which runs toll-free. Its original construction cost was $31,000,000, of which 90 percent was federally funded.

The study notes the legal problems of acquiring Poplar Street Bridge by a commission, since the two states now operate it. It could be done, however. It also notes the restrictions on charging tolls on a bridge on which federal funds were used. Apparently, this could be done also by acquiring enough non-federal money to pay back the federal grant money.

For tolls seem to be the answer. Even if Poplar Street remains free, the other bridge tolls should be coordinated. The study points out that tolls would provide a guaranteed revenue source to cover the large bond issues which might be required to fund the improvements.

The ideal solution, full rehabilitation of all the bridges, construction of the 1-70 ramps off Martin Luther King and acquisition of Poplar Street Bridge would cost $100,819,950. Put another way, it would cost $29,947,000 a year for maintenance and annualized capital costs.

A partial rehabilitation program sufficient to keep all bridges operating would cost $19,365,000 a year.

An extended maintenance program without involving Poplar Street Bridge would cost $11,350,900 per year.

An extended maintenance program would cost $11,550,800 or $8,627,600 depending on which of two approaches to King Bridge was used.

At several points the study mentions 50-cent tolls on all the bridges, although noting the political difficulties of putting them over against public resistance.

The study points out that a 5-cent toll would cut year 1995 average daily traffic from 190,000 to 176,000, with resultant reduction in wear and tear on the bridges, and less pollution.

The current ADT on the bridges is 131,500. Fifty cent tolls on such volume would pay the annual costs of the most expensive of the alternatives considered by the study, full rehabilitation of all the bridges, but only if tolls were put on the Poplar Street Bridge.

All sorts of interesting alternative possibilities for financing the project are discussed. It seems unlikely that the federal government's purse will be as free with highway grants as in the past, but perhaps it could be tapped for part of the bill.

The state governments, if the commission takes over Poplar Street Bridge, might contribute to pay the maintenance costs while they are relieved of. Perhaps in the interest of good traffic flow, the states would contribute to the purchase of the other bridges.

This seems unlikely when their state highway departments themselves are finding tough times financially.

The study discussed by rejected the alternative of building a completely new bridge, preferably where Martin Luther King Bridge is. The cost would be substantially more than any of the other alternatives and it would be very difficult to acquire land for the cloverleaf-type ramps needed to make it better than upgrading King Bridge.

Either Bi-State or the proposed new Bridge Commission could issue revenue bonds to finance capital improvements, but neither could impose taxes.

Ill. farmers fight trade restrictions

Illinois Farm Bureau President Harold B. Steele last week cautioned Illinois farmers that it would be an error on their part to view the Nov. 4 election result as a panacea for the nation's economic problems.

Intercepting an opponent's pass does not win the football game," Steele said. "But with the ball in our possession and our offensive team on the field, we have an opportunity to score—if we have an aggressive game plan and the courage, determination, strength and team spirit to implement it."

Steele's remarks were made to a general session of the Illinois Farm Bureau annual meeting in Chicago. He indicated that the election "was a step in the right direction, but it will take a commitment from everyone if we want to solve some of the critical issues that concern farmers."

"The first and perhaps most basic issue concerning farmers involves how farm commodities will be allocated," Steele said.

"In the past five years, grain consumption has increased 15 percent while production has only gone up 12 percent."

"As available supplies shrink, what will be the method of allocation and price determination? Will it be the market place, or government embargoes and other trade restrictions?"

"This issue must be met head on. The best approach is to attract and retain professional people committed to the free enterprise system."

"We need people willing and able to enter into tough negotiations, and to spar on an equal footing with their opponents at the trading table."

Other agricultural concerns expressed by Steele included preservation of topsoil and the government's involvement in that preservation; dumping of nuclear, chemical and industrial waste in Illinois; preservation of the family farm; foreign investments in American farmland; and high estate taxes.

CHICAGO-BOUND RAIL PASSENGER SURVEY

The SUE Office of Area Development has completed a one-week study of Amtrak's rail passenger service between Chicago and St. Louis. Goal was to identify the preferences and needs of passengers to determine what improvements should be made to upgrade service along the route.

Geography and planning students distributed questionnaires to passengers on the three daily northbound and three daily southbound trains. Data from the survey identified who the passengers are, why they travel by rail, and what changes they feel should be made to improve the service and comfort on board the trains and at points of embarkation and debarkation.

Tudor on pension laws commission

William J. Tudor, professor emeritus of academic affairs at Southern Illinois University, has been appointed to the Public Employees Pension Laws Commission by Gov. James R. Thompson.

Tudor, an Edwardsville resident, will serve in the unsalaried position until July 1981. Two senators, two representatives and five public members comprise the commission, which reviews pension systems for all public employees. Tudor is the only retired member on the commission.

"We will study the laws, and look to see if the pension plan is equitable and make sure retirees are not mistreated," Tudor said. "We don't control the funds. We merely review conditions, and needs, and then give our opinion on what legislation is necessary."

Tudor retired from SUIU in 1975 after 30 years as a professor of sociology, director of area services, and associate director of the University Press.

He is president of the State Universities Annuitants' Association, and a member of the Edwardsville Senior Citizens Service Center and the Gerontology Committee at SUIU.

Don't spoil an old-fashioned Christmas with old-fashioned wiring

Before you put the lights on your tree this year, please check to make sure the cords are not frayed or cracked. Replace any strings that are questionable, because exposed wires could start a fire. And be sure your holiday lights don't overload your circuits.

Using a natural tree? Be sure to keep it well watered. An aluminum tree? Remember that aluminum is a conductor of electricity, so don't risk a shock by decorating it with electric lights. And be sure the tree lights are off whenever you leave the house.

You can conserve energy by using low-voltage lights instead of floodlights outdoors.

Best wishes for a safe holiday season.

Holiday Safety Suggestions

- Don't plug all your tree lights into the same outlet. Avoid long extension cords.
- Use timers to enjoy your lighting when you want it and to conserve energy. automatically, when the lighting isn't needed.
- Look for the UL (Underwriters Laboratories) seal on every string of lights and other fixtures.
- Don't use flimsy, easily flammable decorations that could be ignited by contact with a lighted bulb.
- For outdoor lighting, string your lights from a grounded outlet. Be sure to use plastic film where extension cords join. And use cords and fixtures approved for outdoor use.

O. I've heard a lot on the news lately about different economists saying the recession is over. Personally I can't see that there have been any major changes. How do they justify their optimistic statements?

A. When you really listen closely to the opinions of economists you will hear others who think it's not over and some who don't even think it started in the first place. For the most part, however, they do seem to generally agree that the recession probably ended sometime this summer. That feeling is based on a number of factors. Automobile sales have shown some sign of recovery. Housing starts nationwide are increasing. What is called the "index of leading indicators" advanced rapidly in early summer. Unemployment dropped slightly during the summer. Large companies reported increases in orders and retail sales showed three months of steady growth. All these factors point to an increase in the economy rather than a decline typified by recession. If the recession did in fact end at mid summer, then it will go down in the economic text books as the shortest one ever.

'Tombstone' for man back on nature trail

It took a curse to do it, but the tombstone missing from the nature trail since Halloween is back at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, thanks to the efforts of a Granite City firefighter.

Phil Heath, a five-year veteran at Firehouse No. 1 on Madison Avenue, returned the marker to Bob Williams, associate professor of education, who designed the trail and helped an Alton ecology class set out the tombstone last summer.

Williams promptly began to recant the curse he put on the culprit who took the stone, causing their bodies to shrivel slowly until next Halloween.

"They should be okay," Williams said. "Only the right legs should have shriveled a little by now. I always start with the right leg because a group of thieves with short right legs is more obvious than a group with shriveled arms," he said.

Heath, who has two legs of equal length, first saw the tombstone a week before Thanksgiving in a neighbor's back yard. "The inscription was a little strange, but I dismissed that as the work of young boys," he said.

Last week, Heath picked up a Granite City newspaper and noticed a picture of the same stone. "Being a functional illiterate, I always look at the pictures first," he explained.

When he read the accompanying story, Heath said he realized the tombstone was the work of a fourth-grade ecology class at Eunice Smith School in Alton, honoring their retiring teacher, Harold Horsley. The students collected aluminum cans to earn the money for the rough, cedar marker and the field trip to SIUE to erect it along the trail. Heath took the story to the neighbor's house and brought back the tombstone.

"Are you going to 'narc' on us?" the neighbor asked.

Heath promised to keep the thieves' identity secret by returning the stone himself. "I will keep my uniform on," he told the boys. "They have to believe my story then."

Heath put the tombstone in his car, and with the help of Linda Miller, a med-tech student at SIUE, started for the Edwardsville campus. But the half-hour drive may have been too long. Some of the curse may have rubbed off.

The pair parked near the service Building II while they carried the heavy redwood marker inside. Before they got back, the parking attendant found the car.

Heath said he was happy to return the marker but was happier yet when Charles McDonald, director of University Police, decided to void the ticket.

Williams, who was even happier to get the stone back in perfect condition, said he would beef up the deterrent power of his curse by placing the tombstone in a concrete foundation with reinforced steel rods for support.

IT'S BACK. The ecology tombstone, warning of mankind's disappearance from the earth, is back along the nature trail at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville after a Granite City firefighter, Phil Heath, center, and SIUE med-tech student, Linda zilius. Mrs. Nancy Cochran was also welcomed into the club as a new member.

Miller, right, found it in Granite City. Bob Williams, left, the education professor who discovered the loss and gratefully accepted its return promised to recant the curse he placed on the unknown thieves.

Mrs. Bartels conducted the Christmas gift exchange, and Mrs. Faith Holsinger presented Mrs. Marge Pennell with a baby gift in behalf of the club.

Auxiliary members also purchased a Christmas tree and donated decorative ornaments.

More time to register for BAC spring classes

Belleville Area College students will have an extra week to register for spring semester classes. The board of trustees approved a new calendar under which spring classes will begin Jan. 17. The change is necessitated by problems with a new computer installation and its attendant problems which caused a virtual shutdown of registration for a three week period in November.

According to BAC officials, the new computer somewhat slower for telephone registration than the old computer was. Thus telephone registration is now taking approximately five minutes; however, a substantial time savings is still realized by students who know what credit courses they want to take and who can register by telephone. Telephone registration is accepted at 235-7900 from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday and until 3:30 p.m. on Fridays. Telephone registration has been extended through Dec. 23.

Under the newly approved calendar, graduation will be Friday, May 22. Classes will register in person on campus through Dec. 23. Another registration period will begin Jan. 5 and continue through Jan. 14. Late registration will be accepted the week of Jan. 19.

Tips to prevent holiday season fires here

Granite City Fire Chief Don Parente has issued a series of tips concerning Christmas trees, lighting and other ways to prevent fires in households and public institutions during the Christmas holidays.

Parente said the tips have been approved by the state fire marshal and if followed closely should prevent a number of fires which ordinarily occur during the yuletide and New Year's holiday season.

Those tips are as follows:

Fresh-trees (FOR HOME USE):

1. Buy a fresh cut tree that has been stored out of doors.
2. Store the tree outdoors until used.
3. Cut off two inches of the tree base and set up in a water-based tree stand; check the water level daily.
4. Locate the tree away from heat, i.e., (Hot air duct, radiator, TV set, fireplace, etc.), and where it will not block exits. Consider giving the tree extra support with guy lines.

Artificial-trees:

1. If of the plastic type, check for labels certifying slow-burning materials. If of the metallic type, use only indirect spot lighting and do not hang lighting sets on tree; beware of possible electric shock hazard. Tree with built-in electrical system should carry the UL label.

Lighting:

1. Absolutely never, never put lighted candles on a tree or near any evergreen decorations.

2. Lighting sets can wear out or become damaged; so check them closely, for worn insulation, broken plugs, loose bulb sockets.

3. Use only lighting sets that show Underwriters Laboratories, Inc. (UL) or Canadian Standards Association (CSA) label.

4. Plug the tree and decorative lighting sets into house circuits having 15 amp. fuses. Use extension cords sparingly. Outdoor wiring needs special weather-proof cords.

5. Turn off indoor lighting sets before going out or returning.

Decorations:

1. Select holiday masks, whisksers and other costume carrying. Unless "flameproofed," they can change tradition into tragedy!

2. Ordinary polystyrene foam or natural evergreens make fine displays but can be fire hazards. Keep candles and open flames away!

3. Use noncombustible materials if possible, or flame retardant decorations. Untreated cotton, flock and tissue paper ignite easily!

Gifts:

1. Gasoline, alcohol and kerosene operated toys are risky in children's hands — causing clothing and house fires. Avoid pyroxylin plastic toys and dolls.

2. Electric toys should carry the UL or CSA label to show they meet safety standards.

Wrappings:

1. Pick up wrappings while opening gifts. Put them into covered trash containers. Do not burn them in the fireplace.

2. Fire escape plan: 1. You should have that smoke alarm installed - to warn you of a smoldering fire at night.

2. Review your fire escape planning. Know two escape routes from each room. If fire occurs, get everybody out of the house, then call the Fire Department.

3. Holidays are exciting, active times for small children. But, play with toys under or near the tree should be declared "off limits."

4. Home is not the only place where holiday fire hazards need attention! In schools, churches, hospitals and other public buildings, use only non-combustible trees and decorations, or trees treated by UL listed fire retardant compounds in accordance with their application requirements.

Census reflects smaller families and Sunbelt gains

Wintry winds have begun to blow, and the picture painted by census statisticians seems as bleak as the weather in many communities across the nation. Verbal objections and lawsuits are proliferating. Population figures announced Friday in Chicago show 67,474 residing in the four local townships, a decrease of 11.2 percent or 8,529 persons from the 76,003 counted ten years ago.

Granite City remains the largest city in Madison County although dropping to 36,527 in the preliminary count. Final tallies are to be announced April 1, 1981. Birthrate decreases and a southwestern population shift are the principal patterns being noted nationwide. In Granite City and the Quad-Cities, housing units have increased by 3.3 percent, from 13,647 to 14,086, and by 3.2 percent, from 24,486 to 25,272 units. But the average number of persons per unit has decreased from 3 to 2.5 in Granite City and from 3.1 to 2.6 in the Quad-Cities.

Overall population gains were 19 percent in the 1950s and 13 percent in the 1960s but are estimated at 9 percent in the United States for the 1970s.

While the population increase is 9 percent nationally, projections covering the past decade show gains of 8 percent in the west, 14 percent in the south and 3 percent in the midwest, with no change in the northeast.

Illinois will not only lose 39 of its 177 state representatives, due to the House "cut-back" decision by voters, but also two of its 24 congressmen, due to the Sunbelt's population rise.

Some combination of areas in Madison and St. Clair counties seems likely to be retained in the new local congressional district, with the overall territory increased to encompass a larger population. But the district designation, Illinois 23rd, will have to be changed, probably to the 21st.

Recession hurts but state doing well in some phases

Guest comment by the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs—As a major industrial state, Illinois has been badly affected by the current recession, but the state has outperformed the nation in traditional and emerging sectors of its economy.

Illinois finance and insurance industries showed a growth rate of 3.9 percent from July 1979 through July 1980. The U.S. growth rate in those economic sectors was 3.6 percent for the same period.

Similarly, Illinois farm marketings during most of this year have been ahead of the nation's. In August, the latest month for which statistics are available, this state's farm marketings were up by 40.3 percent compared to one year ago, while the U.S. marketings rate was up by 38.9 percent. Illinois coal production rates have also been ahead of U.S. production during 1980.

The key to the economic future of the nation and Illinois appears to rest on federal monetary and fiscal policy.

If a significant tax cut is coupled with an equal reduction in federal government spending, certain economists suggest, the economy can get the kick it needs and inflation can be controlled.

They warn, however, that a tax cut without spending reductions would mean an even more severe federal deficit than at present. This would fire inflation enough to cool any economic recovery that a tax cut might initially spark.

While the 1981 picture remains uncertain, it is clear that both the U.S. and Illinois economies are remaining sluggish as 1980 comes to a close.

The state unemployment rate was 8.6 percent for November, a drop of six-tenths of one percent from the preceding month. The U.S. rate fell to 7.5 percent, down one-tenth of one percent.

Unemployment rates in October for the eight Illinois-centered SMSAs (standard metropolitan statistical areas) were: Bloomington, 6.8 percent; Champaign, 5.7; Chicago, 8.5; Rock Island-Moline, 7.9; Decatur, 11.8; Peoria, 8.9; Rockford, 10.6; and Springfield, 7.1 percent. The October rates were up slightly for all areas, with increases over September ranging from .3 to 1.2 percent.

Thirty Illinois counties registered double-digit unemployment rates in October. Peoria, County, in deep southern Illinois, reached 20 percent.

Many Illinois retailers along with merchants throughout the nation, have initiated or are planning pre-Christmas sales with discounts up to 20 percent because consumer demand is not advancing as the season and some economic indicators suggest it should.

Economic data sheets indicate Illinois retail sales were down by 1.5 percent in September, compared to a year ago, and current consumer buying patterns in many areas are not up to their usual holiday briskness.

In September, department store sales were down by 1.6 percent in Chicago, by 3.5 in Rock Island, by 4 in Decatur and by 1 percent in Springfield, Peoria, Rockford, Danville and Quincy registered department store sales increases during September of 3 percent, 2 percent, 6.9 percent and 1.3 percent, respectively.

Rising interest rates have seriously hurt the construction industry nationwide and in Illinois. Construction starts in this state in October were down 22 percent from one year ago, while the national construction start rate for the same period was virtually unchanged.

There was a three-month national upswing in construction starts from May to August, when interest rates dropped, but a nosedive began in September when interest rates started to rise again. The prime interest rate is now back at 20 percent, the level attained during the spring.

Illinois' broad economic mix reacts slowly to a national economic slowdown. But it is just as slow to respond to an upturn.

This factor, coupled with the uncertainty about the nation's recovery from the current recession, does not bode particularly well for Illinois. But hope springs eternally, and there is abundant hope associated with the preparations for its new national administration for its January assumption of office.

News notes

The Teamsters union plans to seek a court order to halt negotiations between the Madison County government and Local 799 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees. The Teamsters also have requested an election to determine the bargaining agent for county employees. Of 408 represented by Local 799, about 230 are said to be AFSCME members; contract talks have been under way for several months for the fiscal year that began Dec. 1. Teamsters currently represent the highway and animal control departments, and Operating Engineers represent sheriff deputies.

A fire hydrant linked to a six-inch water line is to be installed on Benton Street across from the Madison County jail. The firefighting system at the jail at present is served by a four-inch line.

Signs of the new influenza season are being noted in Illinois, about two weeks earlier than a year ago. Chicago area cases involve a flu virus similar to the A-Bangkok-79 type, the kind detected in ten states in recent days.

Bids will be sought to replace 43 Madison County sheriff patrol cars, including 13 '77 Ford LTDs and 30 '79 Oldsmobiles.

Eleven-month statistics show 1,804 Illinois highway deaths, compared to 1,925 in January-November 1979.

Drug Enforcement Administration agents said Friday more than 200 persons were associated with the international drug smuggling ring known as "the company." Started at Alton in 1976, it operated in at least 20 states, the DEA contends.

A 19-year-old woman who said she was raped by two Granite City men Aug. 17 testified at the Madison County Circuit Court last week that she was assaulted on a rural Edwardsville road and later at a Granite City apartment. She said she and a woman friend had hitchhiked across Canada and the U.S. following the rock music group The Grateful Dead to a performance at the Mississippi River Festival on the SIUE campus, and accepted an auto ride after the concert there.

Salvation Army holiday food basket applications will be accepted today, tomorrow and Wednesday, 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m., at the SA community center, 3007 E. 23rd St.

The 26 Illinois electors are among those preparing to formally elect Ronald Reagan as U.S. president today.

Norfolk & Western Railway and Southern Railway have formally asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to consolidate under common ownership and control.

CONCERNED PLAYERS of the St. Louis Football Cardinals gathered at Charlie's Restaurant last week for a good cause, to raise funds to pay for a wheelchair lift-equipped van for Michelle Kearney, 13, the niece of Big Red linebacker Tim Kearney. Those attending spent $100 each for food and refreshments. Among those in attendance were, from left, quarterback Jim Hart, Mike Kearney, father of Michelle, Tim Kearney and offensive tackle Dan Dierdorf.

New autos call for different wintertime driving techniques

"The trend toward smaller, lighter, more fuel efficient cars is both good and bad news for drivers."

This was Granite City Police Chief Ronald J. Veizer's comment as he cited the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards research.

"According to test findings, the heavier the vehicle, the longer the distance required to slide to a stop on ice."

"This relationship between vehicle weight and locked-wheel stopping distances on ice is at odds with the reported behavior of vehicles on either wet or dry pavements."

"Once the wheels are locked, vehicle weight shouldn't make a difference. But on glare ice, a difference has been well established by the skid testers."

"Stopping distances on ice for compact and sub-compact cars can be as much as 25 percent shorter than for a full-size vehicle, a plus for drivers of these cars."

Once stopped, however, the smaller, lighter cars have a notable trouble getting back into motion again. This is particularly true at warmer ice temperatures or when ice has become highly polished.

"After breakdown has occurred, though, and the wheels are spinning, there is little difference in the traction capabilities of different size cars."

Chief Veizer joins the International Association of Chiefs of Police in noting a change in braking techniques that he believes motorists should become aware of.

"Previously, hard, fast jobs at the brake pedal were the proper way to 'pump' the brakes on slick roads. That was when cars had drum brakes on all four wheels."

"A good share of today's cars, however, have disc brakes on the front and drum brakes on the rear."

"The fast and hard as you can" pumping technique does not allow the front disc brakes to release completely. With the front wheels staying locked and sliding, steering control is never regained—the basic objective of pumping the brakes in the first place."

"Instead, skid testers now recommend a slower, intermittent braking action—fully on and then fully off long enough to let disc brakes release so that all wheels are rolling again."

"In short, apply the brakes until you feel that a skid is about to start; then release, steer and pump again."

"According to National Safety Council performance tests, contrary to the impression of many motorists, radial tires are not necessarily a substitute for snow tires for driving on snow and ice."

"These tests showed that the performance of radial tires varies widely and is dependent on tread configuration."

"In other words, a radial tire with a regular highway tread will perform as a regular highway tire. A radial with a snow tread will perform as a snow tire."

"In the final analysis," Chief Veizer reminded car owners, "reinforced tire chains remain the best and most dependable traction aid for severe snow and ice conditions."

"They provide from four to seven times as much traction on snow or ice as regular tires; and they stop up to 50 percent better on ice."

"Always buckle up. Use the safety restraints in your car—for yourself and your passengers."

"And if you have children, equip your car with the proper type of restraints recommended for your child's age and weight."

Donovan heads industrial group

Southwestern Illinois Industrial Association, Wood River, is announcing the newly elected chairman, William P. Donovan, works manager, American Steel Foundries, Granite City. The announcement was made at the December Executive Committee meeting.

Donovan, who has been the president of the board of directors of the Southwestern Illinois Industrial Association. He also served as the 1978 campaign chairman of the United Way of Tri-Cities and has been involved with the Cahokia Mounds Boy Scout Council and the St. Louis Area Chapter of the American Foundrymen Society.

Donovan holds a B.S. in mechanical engineering from Cornell University (1955), an MBA in business administration from Washington University (1971), and an MS in metallurgical engineering from the University of Missouri-Rolla (1975).

Donovan, his wife and four children are residents of Florissant, Mo.

Southwestern Illinois Industrial Association (SIIA) is an organization of concerned businesses, comprised of both large corporations and the smaller family-operated firms. It was formed through a merger of the Alton District Manufacturers' Association and the Manufacturers' Association of the Tri-Cities in April 1973.

SIIA is dedicated to promoting the free private enterprise system. SIIA is located in Wood River, Ill., and its membership represents jobs, payroll, taxes (personal and real), capital investment and cost of products and services purchased.

The membership of SIIA of both large and small companies enables SIIA to be in a good position to give the legislators the facts they need concerning impact on the total business community.

Housing allowance for SIU chancellor

A housing allowance of $1,070 per month for the chancellor of the Southern Illinois University system was approved here Thursday by the SIU Board of Trustees, effective Jan. 1, 1981.

The board also approved an annual adjustment in the allowance, based on general price increases during the current fiscal year.

In addition, the board approved purchase of furniture for use in public areas of the chancellor's residence, with the furniture to remain the property of the board.

William R. Norwood, chairman of the SIU board, explained that a provision for the housing allowance was part of the plan approved in 1979 at the time of the establishment of a new governance structure, creating the position of chancellor as the chief executive officer of the SIU system.

Chancellor Kenneth Shaw, formerly president of SIU at Edwardsville, has continued to live in the university president's home in Edwardsville while he has been having a new residence built.

He announced plans last week to move in mid-January into the new residence, which is located near the president's home. At that time, President Earl Lazerson, who has been living in his own home in Grandview Subdivision, will move into the president's home on South Charles Street. Lazerson was named permanent president of the university in July.

Chairman Norwood said, "We're always looking for the best and cheapest way to do things." He said the board believes it will be less costly for the university to provide the chancellor a housing allowance, rather than building a new home at university expense.

The university has been providing housing for its chief executive officers for more than 30 years, but in 1974 the board adopted a resolution restricting the construction of new housing for university officers.

Photo-stories capture history Proper bathroom ventilation expels Dampness Demons

What sports fan would fail to recognize the familiar stance of Babe Ruth as he shattered his own home run record in 1927? Or, the graceful poise of Romania's Nadia Comaneci during her flawless performances at the 1976 Olympics?

Who can look at a 1944 photograph of American liberating forces marching down the Champs Elysees in Paris without acknowledging a powerful sense of history, not to mention patriotism?

And who will ever forget that eventful summer's night in July 1969, when millions of individuals the world over watched astronaut Neil Armstrong first set foot on the moon?

These outstanding moments, captured on film and in print by United Press International, are just a few of the major events of the century that can live forever in your home or office.

Through an agreement with UPI, Past Press Productions, a New York-based company specializing in historically-related products, has begun production of photo stories on major events in American history, sports and Americana.

Past Press charts dramatic moments in American history—from the Civil War to the Space Age, from the trials of the Wright Brothers to the first moon landing, from the first World Series game to the US Hockey Team's triumph at Lake Placid.

The original photos, together with copy which appeared in newspapers across the country, are now available as collector's items in a designer style chrome-colored 11" x 14" mylar frame, ready for immediate hanging.

These plaques have been carefully selected by professional researchers who review UPI's outstanding archives to uncover memorable and dramatic moments in America's past.

There are over eight million photographs in the UPI archives, some dating as far back as the 1850s.

These dramatic mementos have particular appeal as an interesting and inexpensive gift idea for any age group. Priced at $6.95 plus postage and handling, they are both educational and entertaining for either the novice or the veteran collector.

For more information and a free catalog, write to American Highlights Distributing Company, Dept. M, 960 Avenue of the Americas, New York NY 10001.

REMEMBRANCE OF THINGS PAST—Outstanding moments in American history, sports and Americana come to life in your home or office with authentic reproductions of UPI photographs and newspaper copy. Mounted in 11" x 14" chrome-colored frames, these decorator design photo stories make the perfect gift idea for nostalgia buffs and collectors alike.

Folk art — a show of hands

Hand-crafted objects are finding an appreciative and growing audience today, as is obvious in boutiques and bookstores across the country. An equal interest has developed in the handicrafts of the past and, in particular, in folk art.

"Folk art" is a term applied to any object, whether utilitarian or not, which bears hand-done decoration. Early homeowners could not afford much more than the bare necessities of life, and the more frivolous items—decorations for the home, toys for the children—were made at home.

Anything and everything that came to hand was a canvas for a home artist. Pottery, furniture, quilts—all were likely to be spruced up with decorations running from simple flower-and-leaf motifs to intricate, if primitive, landscapes and portraits.

Whimsical children's toys were created from bits of rags, wood scraps, and sometimes even straw and corncobs. One especially intriguing toy was the whirlingig, a piece with two air-catching paddles which spun in the wind.

Whirlingigs have been found which date back to at least 1819. They were usually made of wood, though, and many have perished at the hands of time and countless children.

The whirlingigs which have survived take a wide variety of forms, from standing soldiers to miniature houses with "windmill" attachments.

You may not be aware of it, but your home could be playing host to a number of uninvited "guests."

These guests are known as Dampness Demons and they are not only uninvited, but most unwelcome as well. They may be quiet and invisible, but they have a truly demonic capacity for causing damage and discomfort.

Dampness Demons are created in the bathroom where use of shower facilities produces an excessive amount of moisture in the air.

You may have noticed a condensation of moisture on the bathroom walls and ceiling during and right after shower use. These are tell-tale signs that the Demons are around.

They may start off simply by being a nuisance, as this condensation traps dirt, leading to a need for more frequent cleaning. But, the Demons' real specialty is damage, and two factors are at work to compound the problem.

First, modern practices of making homes virtually air-tight to conserve energy, also prevent the Demons from escaping to the outside where they are harmless. The Demons build up with each use of the shower and, as they do, their potential for damage increases.

Further adding to the problem is the increase in water vapor pressure which accompanies shower use. This pressure forces the Demons through cracks and openings and through porous wall materials into "hiding places" where they won't be noticed until they have caused costly damage.

In the bathroom, the Demons can be responsible for peeling paint and wall covering, rusting of cabinets and fixtures, warping of doors and formation of mildew. Or, they may cause rotting of wall board, dry wall or window framing.

Pushed on by the increased pressure, the Demons can penetrate bathroom walls, causing peeling paint on the outside of the house around the bathroom window.

They may also escape to the area above the bathroom, attacking and damaging boards and framing in the attic and penetrating insulation, greatly decreasing its effectiveness.

The best way to prevent this damage is to immediately expel the Demons. And, the most efficient and effective way to do that is with a properly installed bathroom ventilator ducted to the outside of the house.

Tests run at the Engineering Experiment Station at Texas A&M University show that bathroom exhaust fans significantly reduce bathroom air moisture content and water pressure during and after shower use.

Test results show that just two minutes after shower use, moisture content is lower in a ventilated bathroom than it is after 20 minutes in an unventilated bathroom.

In addition, the exhaust fan cleanses the air in the bathroom by removing excess heat, potentially hazardous aerosol pollutants and odors.

You may already have a ventilator in your bathroom, but it may not be equal to its task. The Home Ventilating Institute (HVI) recommends that a bathroom exhaust fan provide eight air changes per hour to be effective. HVI certifies products and sets standards for proper home ventilating.

To determine the capacity of the fan needed to effectively cleanse the air in your bathroom, multiply the length and the width of the room by 1.1 (assuming an eight-foot ceiling).

This will give you the CFM (cubic feet of air moved per minute) rating of the fan needed for the bathroom. The products of all HVI members display HVI labels which give the certified CFM rating of that product.

By selecting and properly installing the correct bathroom exhaust fan, homeowners can be sure that their homes will be protected from the dangers of Dampness Demons.
